Curriculum for Vernacular Schools for Boys, United Provinces, for 1924-25.

The following points regarding the curriculum should be carefully noted:—

ARITHMETIC.

CLASS IV.

Simple lessons in account-keeping (roznamcha and khata) should be introduced wherever the teacher is capable of giving such instruction.

Object lessons.

In no case is the course to be introduced in a school unless the inspecting officer is satisfied that there is a teacher on the staff who is competent to teach it. Where no such teacher is available, object lessons should be given according to existing practice.

Hygiene and Temperance Teaching.

Informal talks in class on hygiene and on the evils, both physical and moral, resulting from intemperance should be held by teachers in the middle classes at intervals during the session. Head teachers should see that the subjects are not neglected and that the teaching is not merely perfunctory.

NOTE.—Books recommended for the use of teachers are:—

HYGIENE.

Articles on Health by Major Megaw, I.M.S. (in the War Journal). Aiza-o-Sehat-i-Insani in Urdu or Manushi Anga tatha Swastha in Hindi, by K. C. Bhattacharya, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (12 annas each), or Hifzan-i-Sehat, parts 1 and 2 in one volume in Urdu, by Munshi Rahmat Elahi Siddiqi, Sub-Assistant Surgeon (corrected edition), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow. (Rs. 2.)

or

Tandurusti ki Pahli Kitab, by Colonel J. W. D. Megaw, Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

or

Swastha Raksha ke Prathmic Niyama (the Hindi version of Colonel J. W. D. Megaw's First Laws of Health), Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

or

Sehat ki Kahani, by E. Marsden, B.A., translated into Urdu by Munshi Abid Hasan Faridi, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1.)

or

Hindi translation of the Land of Health and the Land of Wealth, by Pandit Ram Narain Misra, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1.)

TEMPERANCE.

Manual of Temperance (Urdu or Hindi), by Munshi Mewa Ram, B.A., late Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division.

N. B.—Copies of this curriculum may be obtained from the Superintendent, Government Press, United Provinces, Allahabad, on payment of four annas, six pies excluding postage.

APPENDIX III.

Scheme of Object Lessons.

Instructions to Teacher.

OBJECT LESSONS.

Aims.—The chief aims of these lessons are to train children to observe accurately and to quicken their interest in the world around them. In the preparatory stage these are the sole aims. In the higher classes the lessons will further be used to train children to reflect on the results of their observations and to reason about things; they will compare and contrast things. The lessons may be used for other purposes; they may add to the children's intelligent knowledge of common things, and be made the basis of instruction in language and drawing. While it is of importance to keep these additional aims in mind, we must regard them as of secondary importance; if we endeavour to impart to children information, however useful it may be, without making them handle and examine things for themselves, we shall fail to make our teaching the means of developing habits of observation, and the information imparted will be superficial and inaccurate.

Choice of objects.—Familar objects, chosen from the locality in which the school lies are recommended. These are better than unfamiliar objects as a m ans of training children to use their eyes; we shall make them observant if we get them to s e what they have failed to notice in obvious things. Thus, the majority of children regard all leaves as having the same shape and structure, until their attention is drawn in an observation lesson to differences. Further, objects which can be so easily procured that all children may bring a specimen to the class and examine it, will give more interest to the lessons than objects which can be shown from the teacher's desk or by picture. A lesson on milk would therefore be a much wiser choice than a lesson on sodium, and a lesson on a parrot than one on a rhinoceros.

The objects should be chosen with reference to the season of the year and to the age of the pupils. Thus, lessons in which flowers are being examined should be taken in the months of March and April, when the children will have opportunities of examining many varieties; and while a lesson on germination would be suitable for Class IV, it would be too difficult for Class II.

In order to give opportunities for comparison, the objects chosen should have some connection with each other. In the lowest classes they will be linked together by dealing with similar groups of objects (e.g. common crops), between which the pupils may note comparison and contrast. In the higher classes there should be more continuity of subject; the series of lessons should give the children opportunities to make deductions, and should lead them to the statement of simple general truths such as "animal life is dependent on plant life." By association in this way the lessons will gain greatly in interest, and will admit of gradual progress in difficulty along particular lines.

The actual objects should, wherever possible, be obtained. Nearly all the lessons in the following lists can be illustrated by objects which the children can bring to school. If the teacher encourages his pupils to exert themselves in this way, he will help greatly to make his lessons a success. Pictures are a poor substitute for the real object and should be used in the place of objects only when lessons are given on certain animals which cannot be shown in the school, e.g., camel, elephant, but which may form the subject of a lesson if children are familiar with them.

It is not necessary to have many objects in a course. The teachers should not attempt to give lessons in all the objects mentioned in the following list; he should make a selection. Habits of observation are better cultivated by examining a few objects thoroughly than by cursorily looking at many.

Method of teaching.—The first necessity in an object lesson is an object to observe. It would not be necessary to say this, were it not a fact that many teachers are content with a picture, a model, or even a description from a book. A picture or model will help to make a description more vivid, but cannot take the place of the object itself.

The teacher should first find out from the class all they knew about the object. He should then lead them to examine it more closely and notice things which formerly they had failed to observe. Finally, he should lead them to see how the object is adapted by its structure to its uses, ways of living, or mode of growth.

The most common fault of these lessons is that the children do nothing but listen. The teacher should guard against the temptation of imparting much information in one lesson, for children become tired and bewildered by many facts and descriptions. The information should only be such as the object itself gives; any further information may, if necessary, be given in other lessons. Thus a lesson on stamps may be an object lesson, but an account of the way in which letters are conveyed from one place to another should be left to the reading or composition lesson; while the growth of particular plants may be studied in the observation lesson, the distribution of crops in a particular part of the country should be taught in the geography lesson.

"One thing at a time" is a good rule. But while it is not desirable in one lesson to deal with several kinds of objects, there should always be several specimens of an object in the class and, if possible, each pupil should have a specimen before him.

Questions should be put at the beginning of a lesson to find out what the children already know about the object. In the course of the lesson questions should be put in order to stimulate the children to think and to look at things for themselves. At suitable stages or at the end of the lesson the teacher should question the class to find out what they have grasped. He should also at the end of suitable stages encourage the class to ask him questions.

The teacher's language should be simple and his own (i.e. not quoted from a text-book), and if he uses technical terms these should only be such as the boys are likely to use subsequently. The value of the lessons as a means of training pupils in the correct use of language in speaking and writing should not be overlooked. The pupils should therefore be encouraged to express the results of their observations by accurate description in speaking or writing and while the teacher should not make his lesson one on grammar or composition, he should not allow careless expressions to pass uncorrected. In the preparatory classes the lessons should take the form of conversations between teacher and pupils. In Classes I and II the children should be asked to write the name of the object and, where possible, to make drawings. In Classes III and IV simple records should be made, and children should invariably be asked to make simple drawings. The records may at first be copies of the teacher's summaries on the blackboard, but these should be replaced as soon as possible by simple descriptions, written by the pupils in their own words.

More and more will be expected of pupils as they grow older. In the preparatory stage the sole aim of the lessons will be to awaken in children an interest in the things around them; the lessons must be short and bright, and questions will be put solely to make children examine things. In Classes I and II the objects chosen will be more difficult of analysis and will require more careful examination than those of the preparatory classes; pupils will be led to compare and contrast things, and will be questioned to make them think why the properties and structure of the object are specially adapted to its uses, ways of living or mode of growth. In Classes III and IV there will be greater demand than in previous classes on the reasoning powers; things will be classified, deductions will be made, general truth will be arrived at, and a training will be given in exact measurement.

Diagrams and drawings by the teacher on the blackboard are valuable as a means of giving interest to a lesson; but these should follow, not precede, the children's observations; the blackboard sketches should not be elaborate drawings. The fewer lines in them the better; each drawing should bring out only one or two points, for any elaboration will only distract the class.

When experiments are performed, information should not be given as to what may be expected to happen; when the experiment has been carried out, the children should be questioned and led to reason out for themselves what it teaches.

For successful teaching, the teacher's interest is the first essential. If instead of depending solely on books, he works at the objects himself saying: "How can I kindle the interest of children in these? How can I awaken their curiosity and stimulate them to observe and enquire?" his teaching will be successful.

Scheme of Object Lessons.

Teachers should select their lessons from the following lists. They should choose from lists objects which are found in the district in which the school is situated, and are best suited to the ages of the children.

Preparatory Classes A and B.

Common things.—Simple forms: sphere, cube, cylinder—illustrated by balls, pieces of sugarcane, pencils, pichkari (syringe), bansiri (flute), bricks. Colours: the children should be taught to distinguish the colours—white, black, red green, yellow, and blue. The following should be used as illustrations: Flowers, coloured paper, cloth, wood, beads, and churies (bangles).

Common animals and birds.—Cow, goat, sheep, cat, dog, parrot, pigeon, titar.

Common fruits.—Guava, mango, orange, tamarind, ber.

Common articles of food.—Milk, water, bread, dal (lentil), ghee (clarified butter), dahi (curds).

Class I.

Common things—Takhti, slate, knife, khurpa (hoe), pharua (spade), khapra (tile), ghara (pitcher).

Common animals and birds.—Buffalo, horse, ass, camel, sparrow, maina.

Common crops.—Wheat, barley, gram, maize, rice, bajra, peas.

Common vegetables.—Sag (spinach), bhindi (lady's finger), gajar (carrot), mulí (radish), potato, kohra (pumpkin).

Class II.

Common things.—Stamps, metals (iron, brass, copper), coins, clay, sand, sulphur, saw, chheni (chisel), barmi (borer), hal (plough), harrow, kolhu (sugar mill).

Common animals.—Elephant, monkey, fish, snake, squirrel, rabbit, frog (to be selected only if they are frequently seen in the locality, and if suitable pictures are available), peacock, crow, blue-jay.

Common trees and plants.—Mango, pipal, nim, tamarind, bamboo, cotton, castor plant.

Class III.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
1	Classification of objects.	Living and non-living objects. Natural and artificial objects.	July.
2	Plants and their parts.	Examination of the number of the common flowering plants of the neighbourhood with reference to their flowers, leaves, stems, roots, fruits, and seeds, and also to the following :— (a) Flowers yield seeds and fade away. (b) The stem holds the leaves up to the sunlight and supports the flower. (c) The root fixes the plant in the soil.	July and August.
3	Flowers ...	Examination of some of the common flowers of the season with reference to the following Parts:—petals, sepals, and stamens. The following are examples which may be studied:— Khira (cucumber), bhindi (lady's finger), lauki (gourd), jasmine, rose, dhatura, gul hazara.	August and September.
4	Fruits ...	Examination of some of the common fruits of the season with reference to differences in colour, smell, taste, shape, and size, and also to the fact that fruits contain seeds. The following fruits may be examined:— Custard-apple (sharifa), lemon, orange, cucumber.	September and October.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
5	Leaves and their classification.	Classification of leaves of different plants; leaves to be brought by pupils :— (a) By shape— (i) long and narrow, e.g., grasses, specially the following :— Kans, makka, sarkanda, wheat, rice, barley. (ii) needle-shaped, e.g., chir. (iii) oval-shaped, e.g., tidhara bargad. (b) By structure— (i) simple (one-blade), e.g., mango, pipal, bargad, mulberry, kela). (ii) compound (blades divided into separate leaflets, e.g., arhar, gram, nim, shisham). (c) By margin— (i) leaves with entire margins, e.g., mango, bargad, mahua, gular, bamboo, jack-fruit. (ii) leaves with toothed margins, e.g., mulberry, castor, rose. (d) By veining— (i) net-veined leaves, e.g., pipal, bargad, gourd, melon. (ii) parallel-veined leaves, e.g., sugarcane, bamboo, haldi.	November and December.
6	Flowers ...	Examination (resumed) of some of the common flowers of the winter season with reference to their petals, sepals, and stamens. The following may be studied :—Cotton, poppy, bhanta, mustard, dhaniya, peas.	January.
7	Trees ...	Identification of some of the common trees of the neighbourhood by their leaves, of which drawings should be made by the pupils. The following are examples which may be studied :—Shisham, nim, mahua, sal, mango, pipal, bargad, katahal, mulberry, bamboo, toddy-palm, date-palm.	January and February.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
8	Fruits ...	Examination of some of the common fruits of the winter season, as in September and October. The following are examples which may be examined :—Guava, plum, kamrak, anar, anjir.	February.
9	Observation lessons.	Observation lessons on the following :—Cotton, jute, tobacco, wool, paper, and pencil.	March and April.

Class IV.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
1	Needs of a plant.	Plants require (1) sunlight, (2) air, (3) water. Plants are living things.	July.
2	Flowers ...	Examination of some of the common flowers of the season with reference to their carpels, sepal, petals, and stamens. The following are examples which may be examined :— Rose and jasmine—to show petals. Rose and dhatura—to show sepals. Dhatura and bhindi—to show carpels.	August.
3	Examination and classification of plants used for food.	A simple classification of plants used as food by men or animals and an examination and comparison of these. The following are examples :— (a) Seeds used as food—arhar, urd, pea, gram, mung, bean. (b) Fruits used as food—orange, lemon, peas, guava, mango, banana. (c) Roots used as food—turnip, carrot, radish, sweet potato. (d) Stems used as food—sugarcane, ganthgobi. (e) Leaves used as food—cabbage, chana sag, methi, sarson, marsa, palak.	September and October.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
4	Mensuration	Yard measure	November.
		Examination of a yard measure and its divisions. How to measure to the nearest inch.
		Class to guess length to nearest yard, e.g., length of class room, height of door, etc. These to be verified by measurements made by the class. Class also to guess lengths to the nearest foot. of smaller objects, e.g., width of table, etc., and the measurements to be verified by experiments.
		Foot-rule.
		Examination of a foot-rule (divided into eighths and tenths of an inch). To copy part of the rule and its divisions. How to measure to the nearest eighth or tenth of an inch.	December.
		Measurement of straight lines.
		The blocks of wood of rectangular shape, rectangular pieces of cardboard, tin, etc., for measurement. Measure lengths of sides in inches and eighths of an inch and also in tenths of an inch, expressing the latter in the decimal notation.	January.
5	Flowers ...	Examination (resumed) of some of the common flowers of the winter season with reference to their nectaries as well as petals, sepals, stamens, and carpels (previously done).	February.
		The following are examples which may be studied:—
		Mango, mustard, and dhanya—to show nectaries.
		Mustard and cotton—to show carpels.
		Mustard, peas, beans, and cotton—to show stamens.
		Poppy and rose—to show sepals.
		Cotton and gourd—to show petals.
6	Observation lessons.	Observation lessons on the following:—	March and April.
		Wood, tobacco, and the common vegetable oils, e.g., mustard, linseed, cocoanut, and sesamum.

Class V.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
1	Seeds ...	Soak beans in water for a few hours and take off the skins. Note the white tip (future root) separate the fleshy parts; note the white stem lying between them.	July.
2	Germination	To grow and examine seed, e.g., beans, wheat, mustard, peas, onion, etc., and to make sketches showing the stages in growth of the seeds and also to examine the seedlings by pulling up a few at intervals of about two days.	July and August.
3	Chief things needed for germination.	(a) Supply of moisture. (b) Air. (c) A certain degree of warmth. Experiments for (a) and (b). (1) Fill a bottle with dry seeds, put some elastic bands about it and place it under water; after a few days the bottle will be burst by the swelling seeds. (2) Place some dry seeds in dry sawdust and others in moist sawdust (an inch below the surface); compare the results after a week or two. (3) Take three small wide-mouthed bottles, two of which have good corks. Call these I, II, III. Dry I, place in it some seeds (mustard, wheat, barley), cork, and seal with sealing wax. In II put two or three layers of blotting paper (wet) at the bottom; then put in seeds and cork, and seal as before. Treat III like II, but leave the bottle uncorked. Put the bottles side by side and examine daily. In I they do not germinate, no water and little air. In II they grow for a little while but then die. In III they grow well if the paper is kept moist.	August and September.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
		Experiment for (c). Take two small flower pots and fill them with moist sawdust or sand. Sow some barley or wheat seed in each. Place one pot in another earthen vessel in which water is kept for cooling, taking care that the water does not reach the pot containing the seeds. Keep the other pot near the first but without cold water round it. Note that the seeds germinate quicker in the second pot than in the first. The germination is delayed with decrease of warmth and stops if there is no warmth at all (cf how "doob" grass grows in the rainy season with moisture and warmth; when the latter is withdrawn in the cold season, little growth, if any, is made till February, when "warming up" begins again).	August and September.
4	Roots attracted by water.	Fill a shallow box, having a bottom of coarse muslin, with a layer of sawdust. Plant mustard seeds. Tilt the box by a block of wood under one end. Keep the sawdust watered. Note that the roots pass out at the bottom but afterwards turn towards the moist sawdust. The same experiment may be tried with wheat and gourd.	Octo
5	Mensuration	Measurement of curved lines :— Supply pupils with bamboo cylinders (made by cutting a long piece of bamboo into portions 2″ or 3″ long). Determine the circumference thus :—Wrap a piece of thin paper round the cylinders; stick a pin through the overlapping of parts of the paper and measure the distance between the pin-pricks; or wrap thread round the cylinder four or five times and measure the length of the thread dividing the length so obtained by the number of times it has been wrapped round. Measure the perimeters of coins or other circular pieces of metal by making a mark on the rim and rolling the coin along the rule.	October and November.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
		Outside measurements :—
		Use a tape measure which may be made by the teacher, each boy being provided with a piece of string cut to length of the definite number of yards (e. g., four yards; then the string folded in half equal two yards and folded again half equal one yard).	November and December.
		Distance to be measured and then stepped.
		Boys to find the length of an average step.
		Measurement of the dimensions of the school room or school garden. Exercises in estimating distances, and stepping to verify the guesses.
		Plans of compound to be made (the measurements being made by the use of the strings and foot-rule).
6	Flowers ...	Examination of some of the common flowers of the season with reference to their various parts (revision). Functions of the different parts of a flower. Polination and seed productions, the primary function of the flower.	January and February.
		The relationship between insects and flowers; note only certain kinds of insects visit flowers: why insects come to flowers; advantage to flowers of insect visits.
7	Fruits and seeds.	Dispersal of fruits and seeds; its reason. Seed dispersal and advantage because it prevents overcrowding.
		Dispersing agents. How dispersed :—	March and April.
		(a) Wind—
		Seeds or fruits that are carried by the wind—
		(1) Parachute fruits, e g., thistle-down, kans, parwal, carkandx.
		(2) Winged seeds, e g., kaner.
		(3) Parachute seeds, e.g., cotton, simal, madar.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
		(b) Animals—
		(1) Seeds enclosed in succulent fruits which are eaten by birds or animals; the seed are ejected, sometimes at long distances away, e.g, anar, peas, guava, jamun, gular, anjir.
		(2) Seeds and fruits dispersed by attachment to animals :—
		(i) Fruits with hooks, e. g., latzira, gukru, spear-moss, kutta grass.
		(ii) sticky seeds, e g., cordia latifolia.
		(c) Explosive or ejective mechanism in the fruit itself. Seeds liberated by the bursting of fruits, e.g., arhar, castor, gulmendi, oxalis.
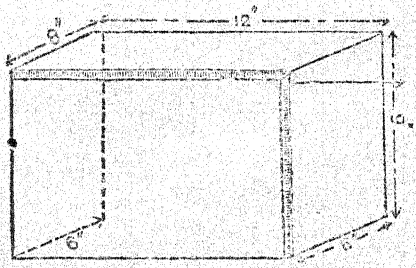
		(d) Water especially in the case of aquatic plants and also those which grow on the margins of streams.

Equipment for object lessons.

It is suggested that schools in which object lessons are attempted should be supplied with flower pots, if possible one between every two children, and a sufficient quantity of sawdust so as to enable scholars to see root-development. Provided that money be available, it would still be better to supply the schools with germinating boxes made as in the sketch below :—



iron ribbon nailed to keep sides straight.

These boxes are made open at the top with a pane of glass in front fitting into a groove and sloping inwards. By this means the development of roots is seen and can be measured; the difference in the branching of roots in the main groups illustrated by any grass (barley, wheat, maize, rice, oats, etc., and plants such as beans, peas, gourds, etc., can be made out. These boxes are a never-failing source of interest and a valuable adjunct in teaching.

APPENDIX I.

TRAINING CLASS COURSE IN GEOGRAPHY.

p mak- d read- nd use ks etc.

A.—How to teach the Geography of the area round the school, and then of the district, the province and India; simple plan and map making and the proper study of district and provincial maps and the map of India.

With class II of the Model School.

1. How to find direction by the sun and by the pole-star. The drawing of a compass card by class and teacher.

2. Measurement and estimation of distances by uncertain measures, girah, hat, pace, etc. Measurement in standardized distances, inch, foot, yard, furlong. The use of the foot-rule. Practice in estimating by eye.

3. Reduction to simple scales.

4. How to fix on a horizontal black-board the position of one object in relation to another by plotting direction and distance reduced to scale.

5. How to make a plan of an ink-pot, box, etc., by outlining the base, by measurement without reduction and by measurement with reduction to a scale.

The plan of a house as shown by its foundations.

Plan of the class-room on black-board from the children's measurements and reductions and the teacher's plotting.

Finding positions in the room and on the plan.

Plan of school and exercises in finding positions.

With class III.

1. Combination of map and plan making in map of school environment as given in text-book.

2. Plotting walk on slate using pace as unit of measure, and inserting objects by estimating rectangular distance from route by eye.

3. Reading map of district. Knowledge of signs. Measurement of map distances and calculation of actual distances (a) as crow flies, (b) along roads, railways, etc., from home village to various places such as the thana, the post office, the district headquarters. (This is the first exercise in visualizing what is beyond the actual horizon).

4. Plotting walk using signs on district map for woods, swamps, jheels, etc. Judging distances with the eye.

5. Exhibition of patwari's map and short explanation of its use.

With class IV.

1. Revision of map work, especially plotting.

2. Study of map of United Provinces, as of district with particular attention to physical features, communications and position of the large towns in relation to communications and products of the surrounding country.

3. Study of the map of India.

4. Use of outline maps.

5. The use of pictures and maps as aids to the text.

B.—Observation work on landshapes, on local differences of soils, etc., and their effects, on vegetation, observation on means of transport, on local industries, on commerce, etc., on the habits of some animals and birds, on the seasons, the sun, moon, pole-star, etc. Observation work.

With class II.

1. Illustration in the rainy season of the following :—Lake, bay or gulf, strait, island, cape, isthmus, peninsula. The simple study of water runnels to show drainage, carrying and cutting power of water.

2. The trees round the school, their uses, the times of germinating, flowering, fruiting and shedding of leaves.

The usual crops of the neighbourhood, times of sowing and harvest, suitability of location, supply of water by rainfall, canal, wells, tanks.

3. Local means of transport by land or water, human transport—beasts of burden—animal traction, mechanical transport.

4. Village and town industries, e.g., the potter, carpenter, spinner, weaver, blacksmith, rope-maker, cultivator, etc., and their tools. Commodities in the market and where they come from.

5. Domestic animals and their usefulness to man.

6. Hours of sunrise and sunset, noonday shadows.

With class III.

1. Recognition during the rains of lakes, capes, islands, etc. Comparison of maps with actual forms.

Further study of streams—source, stages, bed, tributaries, distributaries, delta, flood, plain, water parting, catchment basin.

2. Different kinds of soil according to classification in patwari records. Uses of each soil as demonstrated in the neighbourhood, especially as regards pasture and cultivation. Use of patwari map to show distribution. Useful wild plants and noxious weeds in field and jheel.

3. Transport and communication—paths, kachcha and pakka roads, railways, tramways, navigable canals and rivers. The construction of roads, material, method, culverts, milestones, gradients, etc. Position of abadi in relation to roads. Road and rail communication within the district. How letters travel.

6. How to read the time by the sun and by a clock.

With class IV.

1. Comparison of actual landshapes and forms with representation on maps, study of mountains, hills, plateaus, passes from nature, if possible and from maps.

2. Study of railway by observation—station, permanent way signals, rolling stock, railway bridges, steamboats, motor traffic, rivers.

3. Observation of any special local industry, e.g., carpet weaving (Mirzapur), dairy farming (Aligarh).

4. Expansion of earlier work. Compilation, if possible, of a combined class diary.

5. Maintenance of seasonal time chart recording weather conditions in combination with agricultural and other activities as observed by pupils and teachers.

APPENDIX II.

TRAINING CLASS COURSE IN DRAWING.

Method.

THE examination test is drawing on the black-board only, but to enable students to pass this test they should be trained in the principles of object-drawing by means of work on paper and subsequently apply these principles to instruction of a class from the black-board.

As it is a teacher's course, the method to be adopted should be that of drawing on the black-board to a large scale, i.e., 3 feet in each direction, as being a convenient stretch for the arm, and the drawing being then within the compass of the eye as seen by the teacher and yet large enough to be seen by the pupils at a distance of 20 feet.

The drawings should be executed in as free a manner as possible, the arm being straight but flexible and the teacher standing not less than two feet from the black-board.

The principal aim of the drawing to be taught later is to furnish an illustrated class record of the study of the character, etc., of the things seen by the scholars in their object lessons. Thus it is necessary that the drawing should also be done in books so as to be available for future reference.

These drawings should be free in character and, when possible, should be of the same size as the original; but if this is not possible, the scale of the enlargement or reduction should be stated below the drawing.

The standard of excellence in the drawing should not be that which shows the most neatly-executed outline drawing of the subject studied, but rather that which most clearly conveys or records the point or points brought out in the lesson given.

It will be advisable therefore for the teacher (as well as his pupils) to combine his drawing lesson with his object lesson, and, to ensure this, the object lessons and drawing lessons should, if possible, be consecutive periods.

The method to be adopted when teaching this subject in the vernacular schools would be that in the object lesson the teacher will draw attention to certain facts and impress them on the minds of his pupils by large sketches on the black-board. These should be carefully copied in their books or other drawing should be made by the pupils themselves from the object under study.

This principle should also be adopted in the teacher's study, but it will be expected that his resulting drawings will show more searching observation and be executed so as to record best the character of the object under study and to impress most clearly upon the class the point illustrated.

The drawings on the black-board (if in outline only) should be drawn with white chalk, but if representation of solid things be attempted in a solid way, they should be drawn with coloured chalks in as nearly the true colours as possible.

Sometimes, where it is found difficult to make a true rendering on a black surface, a large sheet of brown or white paper should be used for chalk and charcoal work.

For work in books, usually an HB pencil will be found sufficient.

In drawing fruits sectional drawings will be of great advantage.

In all possible cases drawings should be executed without the aid of guiding lines, and even when necessary very few guiding lines should be used.

Alternative curriculum for the Middle (and High) Section for girls in Anglo-Vernacular schools who do not wish to read for the High School Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, for 1924-25.

PREFATORY MEMORANDUM.

Head mistresses and managers of secondary English schools are permitted, with the approval of the Inspectress, and in conformity with the general principles that underlie the curriculum, to make modifications in the distribution of the work in any subject among the various classes from class V upward. Permission is also given, when the general approval of the Inspectress has been obtained, to re-group scholars in class V and upward for Arithmetic, Drawing, Classical Languages and Domestic Science independently of the recognized classification.

Nature study has been prescribed as an optional subject for classes V and VI, but the subject should not be introduced into any school without the permission of the Inspectress, who should satisfy herself that trained teachers are available and can be spared for teaching it. In no case should the work be entrusted to untrained teachers.

The teaching of English by the Direct Method should not be attempted except by specially trained teachers. Where such teachers are not available in sufficient numbers for all classes, a teacher or teachers, qualified to give such instruction, might be employed to supplement the ordinary class teaching by taking classes separately for an hour or so a week each.

MEMORANDUM ON HOME LESSONS.

(Issued under the authority of G. O. no. 790/XV—212, dated the 19th August, 1910, Educational department.)

From the frequent complaints received regarding the excessive amount of work set to scholars by teachers for preparation at home there is reason to believe that the proper relation between work done out of school by the scholar and work done in the class room is not always perfectly understood. Investigation has disclosed much divergence of opinion as to the amount of home lessons that may be reasonably exacted from the pupil in the different stages of her school career, the kind of work most suitable for preparation out of school hours, and the proper distribution of the time available for home preparation among the different subjects of study. Enquiries concerning the prevalent practice yield the conclusion that the matter is left too much to the discretion of individual teachers. Sometimes the pupil is expected to prepare for every lesson in school, and sometimes the work set is wholly unsuitable in both quantity and quality for study at home. The matter clearly does not receive the attention it deserves, and since the abuse of the system of home lessons may produce permanent injury, both physical and mental, it is necessary that steps should be taken to protect scholars from it. It is desirable, therefore, without prescribing any rigid uniformity of system, to lay down certain general principles for the guidance of teachers :—

(1) The fundamental principle on which home work rests is one which, it is to be feared, is too often forgotten, viz., that teaching and learning are two complementary processes, neither of which can be dispensed with or divorced from the other without detriment to educational progress. Activity on the part of the teacher must correspond to activity on the part of the learner. If either is absent, the process becomes onesided and the result barren. Accordingly the teacher who confines herself to the "delivery" of lessons in school, with which home work is not at all or imperfectly correlated, will be little less deserving of condemnation than the teacher at the opposite pole, who neglects her class teaching and endeavours to make up for it by setting long tasks to be done at home.

(2) Though axiomatic, it is too often forgotten that home work must be adapted, both in quantity and quality, to the capacity and the age of the scholar. Home work should not exceed the quantity which a girl of average capacity can be expected to prepar without undue mental strain and without engrossing all her spare time. The clever girl will no doubt take rather less and the dull girl rather more than the approximate time for home preparation indicated below, for they have been estimated to suit the capacity of the scholar of average ability. The aim in setting home lessons should be that a girl should be able to prepare her tasks thoroughly, and yet have sufficient spare time to devote to healthy recreations, mental and physical, of her own choice :—

In classes above the Upper Primary Section the approximate time to be devoted to home lessons should not exceed in the Lower Middle Section one and a half hours, in the Upper Middle Section two hours, and in the High section from two to three hours.

(3) Home work should not be exacted from a scholar in to many subjects on the same day, nor too much in one subject. In this matter the head mistress must exercise controlling authority over the class teachers. She should enquire from them from time to time what amount of work is set in the various subjects, and should see that too much time has not to be given to the study of one subject at the expense of another.

(4) Home work is one of the most important means whereby the student can be trained in the habit of doing things for herself. It must be something which she can accomplish on the basis of what she has learnt in school, not something beyond her powers which necessitates recourse to the assistance of a private tutor. A girl who is always being helped in the preparation of her home work by a private tutor loses confidence in herself and the habit of doing things independently. Moreover, work which is the result of collaboration with a private tutor affords no criterion of the girl's capacity, progress or industry.

(5) Home work should be not only such as can be done without assistance, but such as implies effort. It should never be a merely mechanical exercise which involves no intellectual exertion. It should not, for example, consist of the transcription of "rough" work done in school. Under the influence of unsound tradition there has been, and still is, much waste of labour in this way. Such work is manual, not mental, and should be altogether unnecessary for girls who have been trained in habits of neatness and accuracy.

(6) In the lower stages it cannot be expected that girls should break much new ground for themselves. They should therefore be almost exclusively occupied in going over the ground already covered in class, and this work of assimilation should be tested by the teacher at the beginning of a fresh lesson. The work at home should take the form of recapitulating the work done in the day and of training the memory, which at this stage may be most usefully exercised. But since scholars cannot be expected to take much interest in what they find neglected by the teacher, written exercises should be punctually corrected and returned to them as soon as possible. It is most important that the work of this nature should never be allowed to fall into arrears. In the higher classes pupils will of course have to break ground for themselves, e.g., to solve "a deduction," to study the history or the literary text-book for the next day's lesson.

(7) There is a tendency to relegate too much written work to out-of-school hours. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the best means of training pupils to write clearly, to arrange their work neatly, and to take pains is to insist on these points in class note-books used in school under the eye of the master. There is plenty of time in school for written work of the nature of applying knowledge, if the teacher arranges her lessons properly. It may, in fact, be laid down as an almost invariable rule that no written work should be set as part of home lessons in the following subjects:—arithmetic, algebra, grammar, exercises, original composition, nor should work be set in copy-book writing, in drawing or in elaborate map making. In the higher classes, where a greater variety of subjects is taught, and consequently time has to be economized, sketch maps and geometrical constructions may have to be done at home.

The abatement of the evil of excessive or unsuitable home lessons is a matter of such urgency and importance that, now that their attention has been directed to it, it is hoped that managers of schools and head mistresses will lose no time in making a searching enquiry into the practice prevailing in their own schools and take measures along the lines indicated above to prevent abuses in future. The responsibility for seeking that the nature and amount of home lessons set throughout the school are suited to the capacities of scholars is an important part of a head mistress's duties, and she should from time to time assure herself that the teachers are acting strictly in accordance with her instructions.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Literary course (at least four periods a week).—To carry on conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation and expresssion; to render into the Vernacular passages from the prescribed text; to form sentences and to answer questions in English based on the vocabulary of the text; to recite from memory suitable passages of English poetry and prose (to be selected by the head mistress).

Supplementary reading —At least one easy book per session (for suitable books see lists of books recommended for supplementary reading issued by the Department.)

Dictation and writing.—Dictation (at least once a week) of unseen passages of the standard indicated by the prescribed text. Writing in copy-books.

Grammar.—Classification of nouns, pronouns, adjectives and adverbs, nouns in apposition. Verbs. Auxiliary verbs. Complements of verbs. Clause analysis of complex and compound sentences. Elementary instruction in direct and indirect speech.

Written composition (at least once a week), including simple free composition, e.g., letter-writing and description and composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences and continuous prose. Incidental instruction in arrangement, construction and punctuation.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Literary course.—To carry on conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation and expression and to render into the Vernacular passages from the books read; to form sentences and to answer questions in English based on vocabulary of the text; to recite from memory suitable passages of English poetry and prose (to be selected by the head mistress).

Supplementary reading.—At least two easy books per session (for suitable books see lists of books recommended for supplementary reading issued by the Department).

Grammar.—Revision of previous work. Verbs, moods, gerunds and verbal nouns. Formal parsing. Further practice in analysis and in direct and indirect speech.

Dictation.—Dictation (at least once a week) of unseen passages of the standard indicated by the prescribed text.

TEXT-BOOKS.

In classes V to VIII the following readers are prescribed :—

V	Book II ..	Indian Readers— Reader no. II ..	New English Reader II ..	Third Direct Method English Reader.	2nd year reading book..	Book II ..	Book III.
VI	Book III ..	Reader no. III, or Direct Method Series English Reader no. III.	New English Reader III ..	Fourth Direct Method English Reader.	3rd year reading book ..	Book III ..	Book IV.
VII	..	..	New English Reader IV, and new English Reader IVB, or new English Reader IV and High School Reader I or II.	..	4th year reading book..	..	Book V.
VIII	..	..		..	Longmans' new English Course for Indian schools :— 5th reading book ..

In classes IX and X no text-book is prescribed, but at least two of the following should be read carefully :—

Golden Deeds—C. Yonge.

Kingsley's Heroes.

England—Peeps at Many Lands Series.

Wanderings of Rama—Gandy.

Ten poems should be selected for reading from the Indian Treasury of English Verse, Parts I and III. (Oxford University Press, Bombay.)

The English copy-books to be used are :—

Class.	Series.
	Longmans, Green & Co.		Gulab Singh & Sons.	Blackie & Sons (Vere Fosters) or Reversible Copybooks.
	Upright.	Semi-upright.
V	4,5	6	5,6	3,4
VI	6,7,8	7	7,9,10	5,6
VII and VIII	10,11,12	8,10	12,13	7,8,9,10*

The books approved for translation exercises are those by—

(1) Gordon; (2) Stapley; (3) Dwarka Prasad; (4) Manual of Translation into English for Hindustani Students, by E. S. Oakley; (5) Translation Practice in four Parts for Lower and Upper Middle Sections, by B. D. Gordon (for use of the Middle Section); (6) Exercises in Translation from Urdu into English, by J. R. Cornab, published by Gulab Singh & Sons, Lahore.

The following books on English Grammar and Composition are recommended for use :—

(1) A Manual of English Grammar (Christian Literature Society for India, Madras).

(2) The Middle School English Grammar, Parts I and II (Standards V and VI), by L. Tipping. (Macmillan & Co.)

(3) Longman's Junior School Grammar for India, by D. Salmon and A. J. C. Oakley.

(4) A Simple Grammar of Modern English. (Longmans Green & Co.)

(10) Middle School Grammar, Parts I and II, by E. Tydeman. (Gulab Singh & Sons, Lahore.) For use in classes V to VIII.)

(11) An Easy Course of English Grammar and Composition (K. & J. Coo mbay.) (For use in the High Section.)

* No. 10 only in the case of the Vere Fosters Series.

(12) First Steps in English Grammar, by F. Ritchie. (Longmans.)
(13) Simple School Unseens, by Professor A. C. Mukerji. (Macmillan and Co.)

MATHEMATICS.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF MATHEMATICS.

Reasons for Teaching Mathematics.—We teach Mathematics with a twofold aim. On the one hand we use the subject as a means of developing the intelligence of the pupil; on the other hand we endeavour to make her skilful in such operations with numbers as are likely to be of practical use. Thus the teacher will endeavour to make clear to pupils the reasons which underlie processes; and will also train them to gain the power of rapid, accurate and confident calculation.

Neatness and arrangement in written work.—Great stress should be laid on neatness and care in arrangement. Errors in working can often be traced to slovenly arrangement or badly formed figures. Pupils should be trained to arrange their work in a series of logical steps, for each of which a reason can be given. Particular care should be taken in the early stages that units are not omitted, and that every line is a correct statement.

Oral work.—All new processes should be introduced and fixed in the mind by means of examples worked on the blackboard. These should involve only small numbers, so that calculations may be performed without resort to pen and paper. Even after a new rule has been established "Mental Arithmetic" should be a feature of most lessons. A few minutes given daily to the oral solution of problems is a valuable means of revising past works and in training pupils to gain rapidity and confidence in calculation. In Geometry definitions must be first explained and understood and then learnt by heart.

Concrete illustrations.—Wherever possible, concrete aid should be used. In the earliest stages the various operations should be taught by means of illustrations with objects which can be easily procured, such as headless matches, nuts, etc. Tables of weights and measures should be visualized by measurements of lengths, areas, volumes, capacities and weights; pupils should be practised in estimating the weights of common objects, the heights of tables and rooms, the areas of surfaces, the capacity of vessels and the distances between fixed points in the class-room and play-ground; and should verify their estimates by experiments. At a later stage in the teaching of vulgar fractions and decimals the foot-rule graduated in inches and twelfths of an inch and in centimeters should be in constant use.

Nature of examples.—Once a rule has been learnt it should be applied to varied examples, both oral and written. Examples should, as far as possible, relate to matters within the experience of pupils, and the numbers employed should be such as are likely to occur in practice; thus although pupils should be made familiar with operations in British money, prices in problems should, as a rule, be given in Indian money. Operations with large numbers should be the exception, and when they are employed they should be taken from real life. In multiplication and division of decimals the methods adopted in the early stages should be such as can be employed in contracted work at a later stage; thus the methods given in Hall, Stevens and Sims' School Arithmetic for Indian schools are preferable to the older methods. To test the grasp of a new process and to connect it with what has been already learnt, it should be applied to problems which involve also the application of previous rules; thus no preceding rule should be allowed to drop out of sight.

Revision.—In no subject is revision more necessary than in mathematics. As the mental machinery of pupils becomes somewhat rusty from lying up for the vacation, such revision is especially necessary at the commencement of each session.

Text-book.—Even the best text-book cannot take the place of the teacher. She has to expand the theory, which is usually a brief summary; she has also to provide the concrete illustrations to break down the artificial barriers which separate topic from topic and to supplement the lists of examples by supplying oral questions and by inventing problems which are likely to bring the subject into close touch with the interests of the pupils.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN MATHEMATICS.

ARITHMETIC.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Revision of previous work. Tables of English money and problems involving its use. More advanced examples in unitary method. Vulgar fractions of concrete quantities. Simple interest.

CLASS VI.

Revision of previous work. Simple examples in square measure; simple examples in profit and loss solved by unitary method.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Revision of previous work. Compound interest. Ratio and simple proportion. Decimal notation and metric measures. Use of Algebraic symbols to express rules.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of decimal fractions. Percentages. Compound proportion.

ALGEBRA AND GEOMETRY.

UPPER MIDDLE AND HIGH SECTIONS.

CLASSES VII TO X.

Algebra—Classes VII and VIII.—Symbolic expressions; substitutions; brackets; addition; subtraction; easy multiplication; easy division.

Classes IX and X.—Simple equations; simultaneous equations involving one or two unknown quantities.

Geometry—Classes VII to X—

Experimental.—Drawing and measurement of straight lines and angles; parallel straight lines; angles of a triangle; construction of triangles and parallelograms.

Practical.—As in the text-book prescribed.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The books recommended for use are :—

ARITHMETIC.

FOR CLASS VII AND UPWARDS.

(1) A School Arithmetic for Indian schools, by Hall, Stevens and Sims, (Macmillan & Co.)

(2) Longmans' Senior Arithmetic [Indian edition, by Dexter, Garlick and Pollard.] (Longmans, Green & Co.)

(3) A new Arithmetic for Indian schools, by Workman and Sime. (Gulab Singh & Sons.)

(4) Senior Modern Arithmetic, revised by A. H. Mackenzie Indian Press, Allahabad. (Rs. 1-8.)

FOR CLASSES V AND VI.

Anglo-Vernacular School Arithmetics for classes V and VI (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Urdu, 11 annas; Hindi, 10 annas and 9 pies); or Modern Arithmetic, Book II (Urdu or Hindi), by A. H. Mackenzie Indian Press, Allahabad (5 annas).*

ALGEBRA.

Baker and Bourne's Shorter Algebra (Bell & Sons); or Hall's School Algebra for Indian schools, Part I (Macmillan & Co.); Hall's Algebra for Middle Schools in India, 1918 edition (for use in the Middle Section) (Macmillan & Co.). Elementary Algebra, Part I, by C. V. Durell and G. W. Palmer (Indian edition), 1921. (George Bell & Sons.) Rs. 2-12.

GEOMETRY.

Pierpoint's Elements of Geometry in Theory and Practice (the Indian Middle School edition), published by Longmans, Green & Co.

HISTORY.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING HISTORY.

Classes V and VI.—Whether the pupils have copies of the text-book or not is immaterial. If they have, the greatest care must be taken that the lesson does not develop into a reading lesson. Spontaneous narrative alone will secure the desired ends. As the story proceeds, the teacher should question the class to see whether they follow the course of events, and should encourage free communication of the feelings which the narrative produces in the minds of the pupils. The pupils may at intervals be required to write out a story, which they have heard, in their own words. No notes should be taken, for these will be memorised and reproduced. What is chiefly required of the teacher is a power of vivid narrative and of feeling the emotions which she strives to arouse. There should not be a written examination in these classes, but occasionally the head mistress or a senior teacher should test each class as a whole by an oral examination.

Classes VII and VIII.—However simple the book may be, there is an ever-present danger that the pupils will derive incorrect ideas from it. The lessons therefore should be read in class in sections of suitable length, the teacher confining her explanation of the text to making the meaning clear. After the reading she should, partly by narrative and partly by questions, build up a connected account of the events described. During this she should, as far as the means at her disposal allow, bring to the aid of the text pictures, sketch maps, time charts, reproductions of coins and other historical objects. The aim at this stage is to connect the main facts as a whole and to develop a sense of time and of cause and effect. She should not fail to seize any chance of showing how one event was the natural outcome of others. The treatment should be largely biographical. New ground should as a rule be broken with the help of the teacher; the pupils however should independently learn at home what has been previously taught in class. It will be found useful to set the class questions to answer in writing at fairly frequent intervals. This makes for clarity of ideas and expressions.

Classes IX and X.—The treatment does not differ radically from that in classes VII and VIII, but the pupils should usually read each day's lesson before it is taken up in class. The teacher should emphasize the sequence of events. It is often found effective at this stage to follow a topical order in preference to a chronological one, as this consolidates and systematizes the pupil's knowledge better.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN HISTORY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Easy stories from Indian History.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS VII.

Outline of Indian History up to the end of the Moghul Empire.

CLASS VIII.

Outline of Indian History from the decline of the Moghul Empire to the present time.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

A fuller treatment of the courses for classes VII and VIII with an outline of the present system of administration.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Classes V and VI.—Allen's Heroes of Indian History in Urdu (revised edition) or Hindi. (Longmans, Green & Co.).

or

Marsden's Stories from Indian History in Urdu or Hindi. (Macmillan & Co.)

India under Company and Crown, by H. A. Stark. (Macmillan & Co.)

GEOGRAPHY.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is on the one hand a study of the configuration of the earth—its continents, seas, mountains, forests, rivers, etc.; on the other hand it is a study of the needs of man and how he makes provision for these needs. Thus we only partly teach geography if we limit our teaching to a study of physical facts; the chief value of these facts is that they help us to understand how men live and work in different parts of the earth.

In studying a country consider it first as a whole—its general build; the long and short slopes of the land; the way in which rivers run; where there are large fertile tracts; where deserts and where forests. Then in more detail the great mountain ranges; the chief river basins; the great plains; the climate, the population and occupations; the political divisions; the trade routes and towns. For each of these topics a separate map should be drawn on the blackboard, and by the pupils.

The teaching should not be confined to a mere list of names. Facts are of value only if brought into relation with other facts. The teacher should point out why here there is a forest, there is a desert; how the nature of the coast has promoted intercourse with other countries; how mountains have prevented intercourse; how rivers have promoted trade and density of population; what natural resources have given rise to particular industries; how the climate has influenced the life and work of the people. Facts are needed and must be learnt; but a fact is remembered with greater ease if it is understood, and facts are of use only if we can connect them with causes and results.

In giving facts to the class something more than a bare recital is needed. No subject makes greater demands on the descriptive powers of the teacher. She should endeavour to carry the pupils in imagination to the country she is describing; to do this she should, as far as possible, supplement vivid description by pictures, photographs, picture postcards, and, if suitable arrangements can be made, lantern slides.

Sketch maps by pupils.—The pupil's note-book should contain a series of sketch maps for each country, each map illustrating a particular feature. Thus one map should contain the mountain system, a second map the river system, a third the distribution of rainfall, and so on. Almost every topic discussed can be illustrated by a sketch map and benefits thereby. In order to draw these sketch maps it is not necessary for pupils to learn to draw the outline by heart, except perhaps in the case of India, whose outline is easily remembered. The teacher should supply blank outline maps (cyclostyled or printed), and these should be used to illustrate various topics. Many maps, each illustrating a single feature, are preferable to one elaborate map crowded with details.

Blackboard map by the teacher.—These should be built up as the lesson proceeds; each map should contain the elements essential to the lesson and no others. Cloured chalks are a valuab'e help; they make the various features stand out clearly from one another, and if the same colour be used consistently to represent the same features, e.g., red for high land, blue for rivers, yellow for towns, etc., much time will be gained. Outline maps drawn on blackboard cloth are convenient as the basis for these maps; they may be procured from Messrs G. Phillip & Son, through Messrs Longmans, Green & Co., Bombay.

Wall maps.—The school should in addition possess for each continent (1) a photographed relief map, and (2) a plain orographical map, preferably without names. It is important that the map chosen should contain only essentials.

In addition to these printed maps, the teacher should make her own maps to illustrate special points, e.g., vegetation, density of population, rainfall, etc.

Atlases.—Each pupil should possess an atlas. The atlas should be brought regularly to the geography class, and should be constantly referred to during the course of the lesson.

Books and apparatus.—The teachers should consult the "Guide to Geographical Books and Appliances," published for the Geographical Association by G. Phillip and Son (Messrs Longmans, Green & Co., Bombay).

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN GEOGRAPHY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

India.—Position, outline, nature of coast, important harbours and neighbouring islands, the chief physical features, climate, production, provinces, chief Native States, and chief towns.

The following maps should be drawn:—

(1) Outline map with main harbours and neighbouring islands.
(2) Ditto with chief mountains and rivers.
(3) Ditto with provinces and principal Native States.
(4) Ditto with chief towns.
(5) Complete map including all the above.

British Empire.—Position of the following:—British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, with a very brief description of climate and nature of the country. As far as possible, lessons should be illustrated by pictures.

The World.—Where arrangements can be made, oral descriptive lessons describing typical scenery on the life of man in various parts of the world. They should be illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, etc. In preparing these lessons the teachers should consult the following books:—World pictures by J. B. Reynolds (Black), Man in Many Lands by Lyde (Black), and the Peeps at Many Lands Series (Black).

Physical Geography.—Simple explanation of clouds and rain; the effect of mountains in producing rain; the monsoon; the formation of a delta.

CLASS VI.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Asia.—Coast line, great mountain ranges and table-lands, great plains, chief rivers, countries, neighbouring islands, chief towns, people, climate, products.

The World.—Where arrangements can be made, oral descriptive lessons on the lines prescribed for class V (see above).

Physical Geography.—Surface of the earth, volcanoes and earth-quakes, the zones, poles and equator.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Europe, America and North Africa to be treated in the same way as Asia in class VI.

Physical Geography.—Latitude and longitude. Simple explanation of changes of season, eclipses.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Geography of World in Outline. Winds, tides, currents.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Geography.

Class V.—Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book I, Part II (Urdu or Hindi), published by Longmans, Green & Co. (Urdu 10 as.; Hindi, 8 as.)*

† These Geographies are recommended for use provisionally, pending the preparation of new Geographies for girls' schools.

Classes VII and VIII.—Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book II (Urdu or Hindi), published by Longmans, Green & Co. (Urdu, Rs. 3; Hindi, Rs. 2-4);‡

or

A Preliminary Geography of Europe, America, Africa, Australia and New Zealand, Book II (Urdu or Hindi), Indian Press, Allahabad. (Re. 1.)

Classes IX and X.—McDougall's Earth Knowledge, Books III and IV (McDougall's Educational Co., 8, Farringdon Avenue, London).

Physical Geography by M. B. Hill (Indian Press, Allahabad).

Herbertson's Elementary Geography (Oxford University Press, Bombay).

VERNACULAR.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF VERNACULAR.

The aim of the study of the Vernacular is—

(1) to enable the pupils to understand and to appreciate Vernacular literature;

(2) to train them in clear and idiomatic expression.

Method of teaching.—The subject-matter of the lessons should from the first be made the basis of conversation in order that the pupils may grasp its meaning and take an intelligent interest in it. Difficult words and phrases should be explained with reference to their context and not by substituting synonyms, except in the cases where the latter are very familiar to the pupils. In reproducing a lesson the pupils should be trained to single out the salient facts or ideas, and should not merely give a running paraphrase of its entire contents.

The teaching of composition should begin with oral work in the lowest classes; by its means the children will learn to frame sentences, to use the new words and phrases learnt in their reading, and to give expression to their thoughts. When they have some mastery of writing and spelling, written composition should be given regularly; the subjects should be simple and familiar and the main aim of the work should be to train the pupils in clear and straightforward expression. Later, more advanced subjects should be given and more attention should be paid to literary form; abstract subjects should be avoided and in all cases the pupils should be thoroughly at home with the subject before attempting to write upon it.

Handwriting.—Slates should never be used either for copies or dictation in any of the classes. Reed pens must be used for copy-writing and transcription, and ordinary English pens should never be used for Vernacular script. Great care should be taken from the very beginning that the pupils should acquire the right method of holding and turning their pens. The position in writing must be regarded as of great importance; copy books should be placed on a desk.

DRAWING AND BRUSHWORK.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING DRAWING.

Method.—Teachers of drawing should bear in mind that it is far more important to train the eye and develop the suppleness of the hand than to produce mechanically accurate copies of drawings. They should therefore see that pencils of suitable length are used and kept properly pointed. They should forbid the shifting and turning of the paper in the process of drawing and insist on the adaptation of the hand to the lines required. They must accept responsibility for seeing that scholars do a satisfactory amount of work, and while on the one hand hasty and untidy work is to be checked; on the other hand, anything of a laboriously minute and mechanical nature is to be avoided.

In model drawing the importance of rapidity as well as accuracy should be emphasized. The principles of perspective must be thoroughly explained and ample demonstration and personal correction must occupy each lesson. The surface on which the object stands should always be indicated, and the drawing should be made as large as the paper will allow.

It must be borne in mind that geometrical, perspective and model drawing—though related—are distinct exercises; while the former requires the application of geometrical knowledge, the latter fails in its object unless it strengthens the ability to draw simple objects freely, in good line, and correct relationship of position.

As regards geometrical drawing, neatness, absolute accuracy and facility in using a few instruments are the ends to be kept in view.

All diagrams should be lettered and made of large size. Both ink and pencil should be used, alternately or in combination. Each problem must be carefully "taught" by the teacher and not merely copied by the girls on the larger scale from the text-book pages.

In free-hand and model drawing no mechanical aids should be allowed.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN DRAWING.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 5, or as in Nelsons's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 5, or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 5.

CLASS VI.

Macmillan's Oriental School Drawing Book, Part I, or Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 6 or 7, or Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 6.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Free-hand Drawing.—Macmillan's Oriental School Drawing Books, Parts II, III and IV (the designs in Part IV to be copied in outline only), or Nelson's Graduated Drawing Books, nos. 9 and 11.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Free-hand Drawing.—Light and shade, as in Macmillan's Official Drawing Books, nos. 9, 10, 14, 19, or any similar books; as also copying to an enlarged and reduced scale.

Geometrical Drawing.—As in Geometrical Drawing for Arts Students by I. H. Morris, specially edited for Indian students by William Jesse, pages 1 to 107 (omitting pages 68 to 71) and pages 117 to 120 (Longmans, Green and Co.).

Free-hand Model Drawing.—Rectilineal and curved forms in outline, and in addition simple every-day objects, such as tables, trestles, surahis, etc., as also the following geometrical solids; cubes, prisms, pyramids, cylinders, cones and spheres

N.B.—Teachers of limited experience in the teaching of Drawing are recommended to use "Longmans' Complete Drawing Course, Part I," by I. H. Morris, Longmans, Green & Co. Teachers of Drawing in schools where Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Books are used are recommended to use "Teachers' Drawing Manual" in English, Urdu or Hindi, by H. Banbery, Indian Press, Allahabad.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN BRUSHWORK.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Brushwork of ordinary Indian flowers.

CLASS VI.

Further forms, insects, birds, flowers, etc.

BOOKS FOR TEACHERS' USE.

The following are recommended for teachers' use:—

Longmans' Charts of Colour, Drawing and Design in three series, by Cecil L. Burns, Principal, School of Art, Bombay, together with a Teachers' Handbook explaining the charts.

Elementary series.—Ten sheets containing alternate lessons in colour and geometrical drawing.

Intermediate series.—Ten coloured copies of leaf forms with a sheet of geometrical problems and exercises showing their connection with geometrical patterns.

Advanced series.—Ten large coloured free-hand copies of flowers, animals or other objects seen in nature, each accompanied by a design based upon a flower illustrating the connection between nature and design.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Hygiene.

AIMS AND METHODS IN THE TEACHING OF HYGIENE.

The aim in teaching hygiene is a practical one, i.e., to enable the girls to live healthy lives and to secure healthy conditions in their homes.

The formation of good habits while young is the only certain means of securing these ends, and teachers should use all means in their power to train children from the lowest class upwards in habits of cleanliness and order; the theoretical instruction that comes later should show them the reason for habits they have already formed and give principles for regulating their future lives.

In the lessons in home nursing and first-aid the pupils should be given regular practice in carrying out the instructions given in them, e.g., they should have practice in applying bandages, making beds for invalids, etc. They should not be brought into contact with actual illness, but for the purpose of practice one of the members of the class can act the part of the invalid.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Simple Physiology.—Hygiene of air, water, food, sleep, exercises. Hygiene of the person. Treatment of common accidents (burning, cuts, etc.) Precautions against common illness (fever and use of quinine, small-pox and vaccination, care of small children). Clothing, food, sleep, cleanliness.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Further treatment of hygiene as above.

Nursing.

Simple first-aid.

Dangers from abuse of drugs and alcohol.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Care of small children; their training in habits of obedience, truthfulness and self-control.

Simple methods of teaching elements of reading, writing and arithmetic and practical application of these.

TEXT-BOOKS.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Shahrah Tandurusti (Urdu or Hindi), published by Gulab Singh & Sons, Lahore.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Personal and Domestic Hygiene, by Mrs. Hendly, English, Urdu or Hindi edition. Published by Gulab Singh & Sons, Lahore.

COOKING.

CLASSES V TO X.

Courses to be proposed for the approval of the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

SEWING.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF SEWING.

In teaching sewing the aim should be to train the pupil to do neat and careful work and to finish it well.

The younger children should be supplied with coarse soft material and with large needles; fine stitching should not be required from them, as it is injurious to their eyes.

In teaching cutting out garments should be selected such as will be worn by the pupils themselves, and whatever style is adopted they should study carefully the proper proportioning of the different parts of the garment made in order to ensure its comfort and durability. Opportunities should be made to train the pupil's taste in the choice of style, colour and material.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN SEWING.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Tucking and pleating ; to cut out and make up any two of the following :—

Pyjama, kurta, shaluka, jacket (blouse), shirt, skirt, man's coat.

Optional.—Chikan work ; karchobi work ; shadow work ; waistcoat stitches ; more advanced knitting.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Two garments selected by the Manager to be cut out and made.

Optional.—Chikan work ; karchobi work ; English embroidery ; drawn thread work ; crochet ; knitting.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Two garments selected by the Manager to be cut out and made.

Optional.—Chikan work ; karchobi work ; English embroidery ; drawn thread work ; crochet ; knitting.

NATURE STUDY.

CLAY-MODELLING AND CALISTHENICS.

Courses to be proposed for the approval of the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

A. C. MUKERJI, M.A., RAI BAHADUR,
Secretary, Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces.

ALLAHABAD :

Shoulder ,,

Hand ,,

Chest ,,

Foot ,,

Practical instruction in methods—

(1) of cleaning house, furniture, china, glass, brass;

(2) of washing cotton, woollen and silk materials;

(3) of disposing of rubbish;

(4) of getting rid of flies and mosquitoes.

(b) Sewing—Two garments selected by the Manager to be cut out and made.

Optional—Chikan work, kurchobi work, English embroidery, drawn thread work, crochet, knitting.

(c) Cooking (optional).—The course should be drawn up by the headmistress for approval.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Class VI.—Shahrah Tandurusti, Rai Sahib Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore.

Classes VII and VIII.—Simple Lessons in First-aid, by N. E. Collins, Ramna, East Bengal. Indian Manual of First Aid, G. Claridge and Co., Caxton House, Bombay (for bandages only).

A. C. MUKERJI, M.A., RAI BAHADUR,

ALLAHABAD:
The 19th December, 1923.

Curriculum for the Middle Section of Anglo-Vernacular Boys' Schools, United Provinces, for 1924-25.

PREFATORY MEMORANDUM.

Head Masters and Managers of Secondary English schools are permitted, with the approval of the Inspector, and in conformity with the general principles that underlie the curriculum, to make modifications in the classwise distribution of the work in any subject. Permission is also given, when the general approval of the Inspector has been obtained, to re-group scholars in classes above the primary stage for Arithmetic, Drawing, Classical Languages, Manual Training and Science, independently of the recognized classification.

English is no longer to be used as the medium of instruction in classes up to and inclusive of class VIII; History, Geography, Science and Mathematics are to be taught in the student's own language; but the use of English technical terms should be encouraged in classes VII and VIII.

The teaching of English by the Direct Method should not be attempted except by specially trained teachers. Where such teachers are not available in sufficient numbers for all classes, a teacher or teachers, qualified to give such instruction, might be employed to supplement the ordinary class teaching by taking classes separately for an hour or so a week each.

Informal teaching on the subject of good manners should be given in all schools, and Head Masters may add at their discretion to the reading matter of any class of the Middle Section, such portions of Madan-i-Tehzib, by Mirza Habib Husain, Khan Bahadur, as they may deem suitable for the class. The book is available in two parts at five annas and six pies each.

Hygiene and Temperance Teaching.

Informal talks in class on hygiene and on the evils, both physical and moral, resulting from intemperance should be held by teachers at intervals during the session.

Where satisfactory arrangements can be made, informal lectures on hygiene should also be given to classes VII to X on the lines of the syllabus given in the Appendix.

Note 1.—Books recommended for the use of teachers are.—

Articles on Health by Major Megaw, I.M.S. (In the War Journal.)

Alcohol and the Human Body, by Sir Victor Horsely and Mary D'Sturge (Macmillan and Co.).

Alcohol and Life, by J. A. Hunter (Macmillan and Co.).

Manual of Temperance (Urdu or Hindi), by M. Mewa Ram, B.A., late Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division.

The First Laws of Health (a Health Reader for Indian Schools), by Lieut.-Colonel Megaw. (Oxford University Press, Calcutta, 1921). Re. 1.

Hifzan-i-sehat, Parts 1 and 2, in one volume in Urdu, by M. Rahmat Elahi Siddiqi, Lucknow, (corrected edition), Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

Chart Rules of Health in Urdu, by B. J. Sahni, Lahore. Mounted on cloth with rollers, Rs. 2-8.

Elementry Hygiene for Beginners, by C. F. Wanhills (Blackie and Sons). Re. 1.

Note 2.—Head Masters should see that the subjects are not neglected and that the teaching is not merely perfunctory.

APPENDIX.

Suggested syllabus of forty lessons on hygiene, ten each in classes VII, VIII, IX and X.

Lessons I—X. The skeleton: head with brain, trunk with vital organs, limbs, muscles and joints and their movements. The blood and its purification in the heart and lungs, with a brief treatment of these organs. The stomach and intestines. The body as a whole, working and growing, replacement of waste from the various sources, and the addition of entirely new tissues.

Lessons XI—XX. Nutrition and digestion: character and value of foods with rules governing eating: water, its function in the body, various means of contamination, precautions to be observed in its use.

Lessons XXI—XXX. Regular excretion The skin and its functions. Cleanliness of the skin, mouth, teeth, eyes and ears. Cleanliness of clothes, beds and houses.

Lessons XXXI—XL. Air: function of respiration; vitiation of the atmosphere and its effects on the individual; rules for ventilation. Physical exercises, its purpose and necessity; types of physical exercises suitable at various stages. Rest and sleep. Correct breathing and use of vocal organs. Postures for standing, writing and reading; the "squatting" posture. Effects of alcohol and tobacco on the organs.

Common accidents and their treatment. Common diseases and necessary preventive measures, Malaria, enteric, dysentery, cholera, plague, small-pox. A simple treatment of the eye and sight with rules for light when working.

Books for the use of teachers.

Hygiene and Physiology: By Drummond (Arnold).
The Laws of Health: By C. Douglas (Blackie).
School Hygiene: By Newsholm and Pakes (Sonnenschein).
Manual of Hygiene for use in India: By Banks (Macmillan).
Physical Education and Hygiene: By Welpton (University Tutorial Press).
School Hygiene: By Lyster (University Tutorial Press, London).

(Issued under the authority of G. O. no. 780/XV—212, dated the 19th August, 1910, Educational department.)

From the frequent complaints received regarding the excessive amount of work set to scholars by teachers for preparation at home there is reason to believe that the proper relation between work done out of school by the scholar and work done in the class-room is not always perfectly understood. Investigation has disclosed much divergence of opinion as to the amount of home lessons that may be reasonably exacted from the pupil in the different stages of his school career, the kind of work most suitable for preparation out of school hours, and the proper distribution of the time available for home preparation among the different subjects of study. Enquiries concerning the prevalent practice yield the conclusion that the matter is left too much to the discretion of individual teachers. Sometimes the pupil is expected to prepare for every lesson in school, and sometimes the work set is wholly unsuitable in both quantity and quality for study at home. The matter clearly does not receive the attention it deserves and since the abuse of the system of home lessons may produce permanent injury, both physical and mental, it is necessary that steps should be taken to protect scholars from it. It is desirable, therefore, without prescribing any rigid uniformity of system, to lay down certain general principles for the guidance of teachers.

(1) The fundamental principle on which home work rests is one which, it is to be feared, is too often forgotten, viz., that teaching and learning are two complementary processes, neither of which can be dispensed with or divorced from the other without detriment to educational progress. Activity on the part of the teacher must correspond to activity on the part of the learner. If either is absent, the process becomes one-sided and the result barren. Accordingly the teacher who confines himself to the "delivery" of lessons in school, with which home work is not at all or imperfectly correlated, will be little less deserving of condemnation than the teacher at the opposite pole, who neglects his class teaching and endeavours to make up for it by setting long tasks to be done at home.

(2) Though axiomatic it is too often forgotten that home work must be adapted, both in quantity and quality, to the capacity and the age of the scholar. Home work should not exceed the quantity which a boy of average capacity can be expected to prepare without undue mental strain and without engrossing all his spare time. The clever boy will no doubt take rather less and the dull boy rather more than the approximate time for home preparation indicated below, for they have been estimated to suit the capacity of the scholar of average ability. The aim in setting home lessons should be that a boy should be able to prepare his tasks thoroughly, and yet have sufficient spare time to devote to healthy recreations, mental and physical, of his own choice:—

In classes above the lower primary stage the approximate time to be devoted to home lessons should not exceed in the Lower Middle Section one and a half hours, in the Upper Middle Section two hours, and in the High Section from two to three hours.

(3) Home work should not be exacted from a scholar in too many subjects on the same day, nor too much in one subject. In this matter the Head Master must exercise controlling authority over the class teachers. He should enquire from them from time to time what amount of work is set in the various subjects, and should see that too much time has not to be given to the study of one subject at the expense of another.

(4) Home work is one of the most important means whereby the student can be trained in the habit of doing things for himself. It must be something which he can accomplish on the basis of what he has learnt in school, not something beyond his powers which necessitates recourse to the assistance of a private tutor. A boy who is always being helped in the preparation of his home work by a private tutor loses confidence in himself and the habit of doing things independently. Moreover work, which is the result of collaboration with a private tutor, affords no criterion of the boy's capacity, progress or industry.

(5) Home work should be not only such as can be done without assistance but such as implies effort. It should never be a merely mechanical exercise which involves no intellectual exertion. It should not, for example, consist of the transcription of "rough" work done in school. Under the influence of unsound tradition there has been and still is much waste of labour in this way. Such work is manual, not mental, and should be altogether unnecessary for boys who have been trained in habits of neatness and accuracy.

(6) In the lower stages it cannot be expected that boys should break much new ground for themselves. They should therefore be almost exclusively occupied in going over the ground already covered in class, and this work of assimilation should be tested by the teacher at the beginning of a fresh lesson. The work at home should take the form of recapitulating the work done in the day and of training the memory, which at this stage may be most usefully exercised. But since scholars cannot be expected to take much interest in what they find neglected by the teacher, written exercises should be punctually corrected and returned to them as soon as possible. It is most important that the work of this nature should never be allowed to fall into arrears. In the higher classes pupils will of course have to break ground for themselves, e.g., to solve "a deduction," to study the history or the literary text-book, for the next day's lesson.

(7) There is a tendency to relegate too much written work to out-of-school hours. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the best means of training pupils to write clearly, to arrange their work neatly, and to take pains is to insist on these points in class note-books, used in school under the eye of the master. There is plenty of time in school for written work of the nature of applying knowledge, if the teacher arranges his lessons properly. It may, in fact, be laid down as an almost invariable rule that no written work should be set as part of home lessons in the following subjects :—Arithmetic, algebra, grammar exercises, original composition and science ; nor should work be set in copy-book writing, in drawing or in elaborate map-making. In the higher classes, where a greater variety of subjects is taught, and consequently time has to be economized, sketch maps and geometrical constructions may have to be done at home.

The abatement of the evil of excessive or unsuitable home lessons is a matter of such urgency and importance that now that their attention has been directed to it, it is hoped that Managers of schools and Head Masters will lose no time in making a searching enquiry into the practice prevailing in their own schools and take measures along the lines indicated above to prevent abuses in future. The responsibility for seeing that the nature and amount of home lessons set throughout the school are suited to the capacities of scholars is an important part of a Head Master's duties, and he should from time to time assure himself that the teachers are acting strictly in accordance with his instructions.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASS IX AND X—TWO YEARS' COURSE.

The two classes of the High Section are in direct preparation for the High School Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces.

The High School Examination is held and the courses of study are prescribed by the Board and published in a separate prospectus.

AIMS IN THE TEACHING OF ENGLISH.

The aims in the teaching of English are—

A. Practical.—To enable the pupil—

(1) to speak and read aloud English with correct pronunciation and some degree of facility;

(2) to understand the language when spoken;

(3) to write the language with grammatical correctness and with facility.

B. Literary.—To enable the pupil to read intelligently for pleasure modern English prose and poetry of moderate difficulty.

C. Linguistic.—To qualify the student by the systematic study of the structure of the language and by practice in its use for the further study of English literature.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ENGLISH.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Conversation and reading.—To carry on simple conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader; to render into the Vernacular passages from the reader; to use the words of the reader in simple sentences and to answer in English questions based on the matter in the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader; dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the reader; writing in copy-books.

Grammar and Composition.—Revision of previous grammar in connection with more difficult sentences. Number and gender of nouns and pronouns, adverbs, prepositions and conjunctions (without sub-classification), interjections, the definite and the indefinite articles. The conjugation of the three simple tenses; the verb "to have" and the verb "to be." Oral and written exercises in the above.

Written composition (at least once a week), e.g., using the words and phrases of the reader in simple sentences. Written composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences (at least once a week).

CLASS VI.

Conversation, reading and recitation.—To carry on simple conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader; to render into the Vernacular passages from the reader; to use the words of the reader in simple sentences, and to answer in English questions based on the matter in the reader. To recite from memory passages chosen from the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader; dictation in ruled books of passages chosen chiefly from the reader; writing in copy-books.

Grammar and composition.—Revision of previous work in grammar; nouns in apposition; classification of nouns, pronouns, adjectives and adverbs; cases of nouns and pronouns; direct and indirect object; verbs, number and person, transitive and intransitive, weak and strong; participles, conjugation of remaining tenses. Analysis of simple sentences. Oral and written exercises in the above.

Written composition (at least once a week), e.g, using the words and phrases of the reader in simple sentences, reproduction of simple stories, written practice in answering easy questions on the subject-matter of the text. Written composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences and continuous prose. In connection with the above incidental instruction in elementary points of arrangement, construction and punctuation.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Literary course (at least four periods a week).—To carry on conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation and expression from the prescribed text; to render into the Vernacular passages from the prescribed text; to form sentences and to answer questions in English based on the vocabulary of the text; to recite from memory suitable passages of English poetry and prose (to be selected by the Head Master).

Supplementary reading.—At least one easy book per session (for suitable books see lists of books issued separately).

Dictation and writing.—Dictation (at least once a week) of unseen passages of the standard indicated by the prescribed text. Writing in copy-books.

Grammar and composition.—Revision of previous work. Verbs, active and passive voices; moods; gerunds and verbal nouns; auxiliary verbs; complements of verbs; formal parsing; clause analysis of complex and compound sentences; elementary instruction in direct and indirect speech. Oral and written exercises in the above.

The books approved for translation exercises are those by—

(1) Gordon; (2) Stapley; (3) Dwarka Prasad; (4) Manual of Translation into English for Hindustani students, by E. S. Oakley; (5) Translation Practice in four parts for Lower and Upper Middle Sections, by B. D. Gordon (for use of the Middle Section); (6) Exercises in Translation from Urdu into English, by J. R. Cornah, published by Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore.

The following books on English Grammar and Composition are recommended for use :—

(1) A Manual of English Grammar (Christian Literature Society for India, Madras).

(2) The Middle School English Grammar, Parts I and II (Standards V and VI), by L. Tipping, (Macmillan and Co.).

(3) Longmans' Junior School Grammar for India, by D. Salmon and A. J. C. Oakley.

(4) A Simple Grammar of Modern English (Longmans, Green and Co.).

(5) The Suggestive Composition Book, Parts 2, 3 and 4 (Blackie and Sons).

(6) Lessons in English Composition, Book 1—3, by J. C. Nesfield (Macmillan and Co.).

(7) A Junior Course of English Composition, S. K. Nath and G. C. Nath, Calcutta.

(8) Progressive Practice Book in "Direct" English Composition—Oral and written, by P. Wren (K. and J. Cooper, Bombay).

(9) Picture Composition, Pupils' Book by J. N. Fraser (K. and J. Cooper, Bombay).

(10) Middle School Grammar, Parts I and II, by E. Tydeman (Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore). For use in classes V to VIII.

(11) An Easy Course of English Grammar and Composition, K. and J. Cooper, Bombay (for use in the High Section).

(12) First Steps in English Grammar, by F. Ritchie (Longmans).

(13) Simple School Unseens, by Professor A. C. Mukerji (Macmillan and Co.).

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF MATHEMATICS.

Reason for teaching Mathematics.—We teach Mathematics with a two-fold aim. On the one hand we use the subject as a means of developing the intelligence of the pupil; on the other hand we endeavour to make him skilful in such operations with numbers as are likely to be of practical use. Thus the teacher will endeavour to make clear to pupils the reasons which underlie processes and will also train them to gain the power of rapid, accurate and confident calculation.

* No. 10 only in the case of the Vere Fosters series.

Neatness and arrangement in written work.—Great stress should be laid on neatness and care in arrangement. Errors in working can often be traced to slovenly arrangement or badly-formed figures. Pupils should be trained to arrange their work in a series of logical steps for each of which a reason can be given. Particular care should be taken in the early stages that units are not omitted, and that every line is a correct statement.

Oral work.—All new processes should be introduced and fixed in the mind by means of examples worked on the blackboard. These should involve only small numbers, so that calculations may be performed without resort to pen and paper. Even after a new rule has been established "Mental Arithmetic" should be a feature of most lessons. A few minutes given daily to the oral solution of problems is a valuable means of revising past work and in training pupils to gain rapidity and confidence in calculation. In Geometry definitions must be first explained and understood and then learnt by heart.

Concrete illustrations.—Wherever possible concrete aid should be used. In the earliest stages the various operations should be taught by means of illustrations with objects which can be easily procured, such as headless matches, nuts, etc. Tables of weights and measures should be visualized by measurements of lengths, areas, volumes, capacities and weights; pupils should be practised in estimating the weights of common objects, the heights of tables, rooms and buildings, the areas of surfaces, the capacity of vessels and the distances between fixed points in the class-room and play-ground and should verify their estimates by experiments. At a later stage in the teaching of vulgar fractions and decimals the foot-rule graduated in inches and twelfths of an inch and in centimetres and millimetres should be in constant use. The metric measures of length, area, volume, weight and capacity should be learnt thoroughly; the class should be given exercises in measurement of length in the metric system, and allowed to handle metric measures of weight and capacity, if available.

Nature of examples.—Once a rule has been learnt it should be applied to varied examples, both oral and written. Examples should, as far as possible, relate to matters within the experience of pupils, and the numbers employed should be such as are likely to occur in practice; thus although pupils should be made familiar with operations in British money, prices in problems should as a rule be given in Indian money. Operations with large numbers should be the exception, and when they are employed they should be taken from real life, census returns, statistics of trade, returns of revenue, etc. In multiplication and division of decimals the methods adopted in the early stages should be such as can be employed in contracted work at a later stage; thus the methods given in Hall, Stevens and Sims' School Arithmetic for Indian schools are preferable to the older methods. To test the grasp of a new process and to connect it with what has been already learnt, it should be applied to problems which involve also the application of previous rules; thus no preceding rule should be allowed to drop out of sight.

Correlation.—The teacher should take every opportunity to break down the partitions which usually separate the three branches of elementary Mathematics. Thus even at an early stage in Arithmetic "rules" should be expressed symbolically in the language of Algebra; thus the rule for the addition and subtraction of fractions may be stated in a general form as follows:—

$$\frac{a}{b} + \frac{c}{d} = \frac{ad+bc}{bd}$$

Algebraical methods should be freely employed in the solution of arithmetical questions, and the graphs should be used to solve questions both in Algebra and Arithmetic.

Revision.—In no subject is revision more necessary than in Mathematics. As the mental machinery of pupils becomes somewhat rusty from lying up for the vacation, such revision is especially necessary at the commencement of each session.

Text-book.—Even the best text-book cannot take the place of the teacher. He has to expand the theory, which is usually a brief summary; he has also to provide the concrete illustration, to break down the artificial barriers which separate topic from topic and to supplement the lists of examples by supplying oral questions and by inventing problems which are likely to bring the subject into close touch with the interests of the pupils.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN MATHEMATICS.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Arithmetic—Revision.—More difficult examples in vulgar fractions. Vulgar fractions of concrete quantities. Practice metric measures of length, weight and capacity; instruction to be as realistic as possible. Simple calculations in the four simple rules with decimal fractions (excluding recurring decimals). Conversion of vulgar fractions into decimal fractions to a given number of places, and vice versa (excluding recurring decimals). Oral and written problems in the above.

CLASS VI.

Arithmetic—Revision.—Simple percentages. More difficult examples with decimal fractions (excluding recurring decimals). Decimal fractions of concrete quantities. The unitary method. Simple interest. Oral and written problems in the above. Units of length in the British and Metric systems. Calculations. Measurement of straight lines. Measurement of curved lines. Rule for the length of the circumference of a circle. The following experiments:—Find the number of c. m. in 1 inch; Measure the circumference and diameter of a circle and so find the value of 'pi.'

Geometry.—Drawing and measurement of straight lines and angles; parallel straight lines; angles of a triangle; construction of triangles and parallelograms.

UPPER-MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Arithmetic.—Revision.—Units of area in the British and Metric systems. Rule for the area of a rectangle. Calculations. Experiment: By squared paper prove the formula for the area of a rectangle. Use of squared paper to find the area of figures other than rectangles. Formula for the area of a triangle. Experiment : By squard paper, find the area of a triangle and irregular figures. Units of volume in the British and Metric systems. Rule for the volume of the rectangular solid. Calculations. Land measures in use in the United Provinces. Square root by factors. Simple and compound proportion. Proportional parts. Harder percentages. Profit and loss. Oral and written problems in the above.

Algebra.—Symbolical expression. Substitution. Brackets. Addition. Subtraction. Easy multiplication. Easy division. Simple equations with one unknown quantity. Graphs of straight lines. Plotting of statistics. Simultaneous equations involving two unknown quantities (both equations linear). Graphical solution of simultaneous equations. Simple problems involving the above.

Geometry.—As in the text-book prescribed.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The books recommended for use are—

ARITHMETIC.

FOR CLASSES VII AND VIII.

(1) A School Arithmetic for Indian Schools by Hall, Stevens and Sims (Macmillan).

(2) Longmans' Senior Arithmetic [Indian edition, by Dexter, Garlick, and Pollard (Longmans, Green and Co.)].

(3) A New Arithmetic for Indian Schools by Workman and Sims (Gulab Singh and Sons).

(4) Senior Modern Arithmetic, revised by A. H. Mackenzie (Indian Press, Allahabad). Re. 1-8.

FOR CLASSES V AND VI.

Anglo-Vernacular School Arithmetic for classes V and VI (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Urdu 11 annas ; Hindi, 10 annas and 9 pies) ; or Modern Arithmetic, Book II (Urdu or Hindi), by A. H. Mackenzie (Indian Press, Allahabad) 5 annas.

ALGEBRA.

Baker and Bourne's Shorter Algebra (Bell and Sons), or Halls' School Algebra for Indian Schools, Part I (Macmilan and Co.), or Hall's Algebra for Middle Schools in India, 1918 edition (for use in Middle Section). (Macmillan and Co.), Elementary Algebra, Part I, by C. V. Durell and G. W. Palmer (Indian edition), 1921 (George Bell and Sons). Rs. 2-12-0.

GEOMETRY.

FOR CLASS VI.

Pierpoint's Elements of Geometry, Part I, Experimental Section. Urdu and Hindi editions (Indian Press, Allahabad.)

or

Hall and Stevens' Lessons in Experimental and Practical Geometry (Macmillan and Co.).

FOR CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Pierpoint's Elements of Geometry in Theory and Practice (the Indian Middle School edition), published by Longmans, Green and Co.

or

Hall and Stevens' School Geometry, Parts I and II (Macmillan and Co.).

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING HISTORY.

Class VI.—Whether the pupils have copies of the text-book or not is immaterial. If they have, the greatest care must be taken that the lesson does not develop into a reading lesson. Spontaneous narrative alone will secure the desired ends. As the story proceeds, the teacher should question the class to see whether they follow the course of events, and should encourage free communication of the feelings which the narrative produces in the minds of the pupils. The pupils may at intervals be required to write out a story which they have heard in their own words. No notes should be taken, for these will be memorised and reproduced. What is chiefly required of the teacher is a power of vivid narrative and of feeling the emotions which he strives to arouse. There should not be a written examination in this class, but occasionally the Head Master or a senior teacher should test the class as a whole by an oral examination.

Classes VII and VIII.—However simple the book may be there is an ever-present danger that the pupils will derive incorrect ideas from it. The lessons therefore should be read in class in sections of suitable length, the teacher confining his explanations of the text to making the meaning clear. After the reading he should, partly by narrative and partly by questions, build up a connected account of the events described. During this he should, as far as the means at his disposal allow, bring to the aid of the text pictures, sketch maps, time charts, reproductions of coins, and other historical objects. The aim at this stage is to connect the main facts as a whole and to develop a sense of time and of cause and effect. He should not fail to seize any chance of showing how one event was the natural outcome of others. The treatment should be largely biographical. New ground should as a rule be broken with the help of the teacher; the pupils however should independently learn at home what has been previously taught in class. It will be found useful to set the class questions to answer in writing at fairly frequent intervals. This makes for clarity of ideas and expression.

Classes IX and X.—The treatment does not differ radically from that in classes VII and VIII, but the pupils should usually read each day's lesson before it is taken up in class. The teacher should emphasize the sequence of events. It is often found effective at this stage to follow a topical order in preference to a chronological one, as this consolidates and systematizes the pupil's knowledge better.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN HISTORY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS VI.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is on the one hand a study of the configuration of the Earth—its continents, seas, mountains, forests, rivers, etc.; on the other hand it is a study of the needs of man and how he makes provision for these needs. Thus we only partly teach geography if we limit our teaching to a study of physical facts; the chief value of these facts is that that they help us to understand how men live and work in different parts of the earth.

In studying a country consider it first as a whole—its general build, the long and short slopes of the land, the way in which rivers run, where there are large fertile tracts, where desert, and where forests. Then in more detail, the great mountain ranges, the chief river basins, the great plains, the climate, the population and occupations, the political divisions, the trade routes and towns. For each of these topics a separate map should be drawn on the blackboard and by the pupils.

The teaching should not be confined to a mere list of names. Facts are of value only if brought into relation with other facts. The teachers should point out why here there is a forest, there a desert, how the nature of the coast has promoted intercourse with other countries, how mountains have prevented intercourse, how rivers have promoted trade and density of population, what natural resources have given rise to particular industries, how the climate has influenced the life and work of the people. Facts are needed and must be learnt; but a fact is remembered with greater ease if it is understood, and facts are of use only if we can connect them with causes and results.

In giving facts to the class something more than a bare recital is needed. No subject makes greater demands on the descriptive powers of the teacher. He should endeavour to carry the pupils in imagination to the country he is describing: to do this he should, as far as possible, supplement vivid description by pictures, photographs, picture postcards, and, if suitable arrangements can be made, lantern slides.

Sketch map by pupils.—The pupils' note-book should contain a series of sketch maps for each country, each map illustrating a particular feature. Thus, one map should contain the mountain system, a second map the river system, a third the distribution of rainfall, and so on. Almost every topic discussed can be illustrated by a sketch map and benefits thereby. In order to draw these sketch maps it is not necessary for pupils to learn to draw the outline by heart, except perhaps in the case of India, whose outline is easily remembered. The teacher should supply blank outline maps (cyclostyled or printed), and these should be used to illustrate various topics. Many maps, each illustrating a single feature, are preferable to one elaborate map crowded with details.

Blackboard map [by the teacher.—These should be built up as the lesson proceeds; each map should contain the elements essential to the lesson and no others. Coloured chalks are a valuable help; they make the various features stand out clearly from one another, and if the same colour be used consistently to represent the same feature, e.g., red for high land, blue for rivers, yellow for towns, etc., much time will be gained. Outline maps drawn on blackboard cloth are convenient as the basis for these maps; they may be procured from Messrs. G. Phillip and Sons, through Messrs. Longmans, Green and Co., Bombay.

Wall maps.—The school should in addition possess for each continent (1) a photographed relief map, and (2) a plain orographical map, preferably without names. It is important that the map chosen should contain only essentials.

The teacher should make his own maps to illustrate special points, e.g., vegetation, density of population, rainfall, etc.

Atlases.—Each pupil should possess an atlas. The atlas should be brought regularly to the geography class, and should be constantly referred to during the course of the lesson.

Books and apparatus.—The teachers should consult the "Guide to Geographical Books and Appliances" published for the Geographical Association by G. Phillip and Sons (Messrs. Longmans, Green and Co., Bombay.)

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN GEOGRAPHY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

India.—Position, outline, nature of coasts, important harbours and neighbouring islands, the chief physical features, climate, production, provinces, chief Native States and chief towns.

The following maps should be drawn:—

(1) Outline map with main harbours and neighbouring islands.

(2) Outline map with chief mountains and rivers.

(3) Outline map with provinces and principal Native States.

(4) Outline map with chief towns.

(5) Complete map including all the above.

British Empire.—Position of the following:—British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, with very brief description of climate and nature of the country. As far as possible lessons should be illustrated by pictures.

The World.—Where arrangement can be made oral descriptive lessons should be given describing typical scenery, or life of man in various parts of the world.

They should be illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, etc. In preparing these lessons, the teacher should consult the following books:—World Pictures, by J. B. Reynolds (Black), Man in Many Lands, by Lyde (Black), and the Peeps at Many Lands Series (Black).

Physical Geography.—Simple explanation of clouds and rain, the effect of mountains in producing rain, the monsoons, the formation of a delta.

CLASS VI.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Asia.—Coast line great mountain ranges and tablelands, great plains, chief rivers, countries, neighbouring islands, chief towns, people, climate, products.

The World.—Where arrangements can be made oral descriptive lessons on the lines prescribed for class V (see above).

Physical Geography.—Surface of the earth, volcanoes and earth-quakes, the zones, latitude and longitude.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Europe, America, Africa and Australia: to be treated in the same way as Asia in class VI.

Physical Geography.—The seasons, the solar system, waves, tides and currents.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING DRAWING.

Method.—Teachers of drawing should bear in mind that it is far more important to train the eye and develop the suppleness of the hand than to produce mechanically accurate copies of drawings. They should therefore see that pencils of suitable length are used and kept properly pointed. They should forbid the shifting and turning of the paper in the process of drawing and insist on the adaptation of the hand to the lines required. They must accept responsibility for seeing that scholars do a satisfactory amount of work, and while on the one hand hasty and untidy work is to be checked, on the other hand anything of a laboriously minute and mechanical nature is to be avoided.

In model drawing the importance of rapidity as well as accuracy should be emphasized. The principles of perspective must be thoroughly explained and ample demonstration and personal correction must occupy each lesson. The surface on which the object stands should always be indicated, and the drawing should be made as large as the paper will allow.

It must be borne in mind that geometrical, perspective and model drawing—though related—are distinct exercises; while the former requires the application of geometrical knowledge, the latter fails in its object unless it strengthens the ability to draw simple objects freely, in good line and correct relationship of position.

As regards geometrical drawing, neatness, absolute accuracy and facility in using a few instruments are the ends to be kept in view.

All diagrams should be lettered and made of large size. Both ink and pencil should be used, alternately or in combination. Each problem must be carefully "taught" by the teacher and not merely copied by the boys on the larger scale from the text-book pages.

In free-hand and model drawing no mechanical aids should be allowed.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN DRAWING.

TEXT-BOOKS.

CLASS V.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 5; or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 5; or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 5.

CLASS VI.

Macmillan's Oriental School Drawing Book, Part I; or Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 6 or 7; or Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 6.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Free-hand Drawing.—Macmillan's Oriental School Drawing Book, Parts II, III and IV (the designs in Part IV to be copied in outline only); or Nelson's Graduated Drawing Books, nos. 9 and 11.

N.B.—Teachers of limited experience in the teaching of drawing are recommended to use "Longmans' Complete Drawing Course, Part I", by I. H. Morris (Longmans, Green and Co.). Teachers of drawing in schools where Banbery's Scholar's Drawing Books are used are recommended to use "Teachers' Drawing Manual" in English, Urdu or Hindi, by H. Banbery (Indian Press, Allahabad).

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN BRUSHWORK.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Brushwork of ordinary Indian flowers.

CLASS VI.

Further forms, insects, birds, flowers, etc.

NOTE.—In brushwork the following are recommended for teachers' use :—

Longmans' Charts of Colour, Drawing and Design in three series by Cecil L. Burns, Principal, School of Art, Bombay, together with a Teachers' Hand-Book explaining the charts.

Elementary series.—Ten sheets containing alternate lessons in colour and geometrical drawing.

Intermediate series. Ten coloured copies of leaf forms with a sheet of geometrical problems and exercises showing their connection with geometrical patterns.

Advanced series.—Ten large coloured free-hand copies of flowers, animals or other objects seen in nature, each accompanied by a design based upon a flower, illustrating the connection between nature and design.

SCIENCE.

There are two courses in Science: (1) a course in compulsory science for classes V to VIII, and (2) an optional course in Science for classes VII and VIII. The course in compulsory science is confined to schools which have the necessary staff and equipment. Details of the course are given in a memorandum which may be obtained on application from the Director of Public Instruction.

Books recommended for the course in compulsory science :—

For teachers.

(1) Familiar Indian Animals (Teachers' Handbook to "Animals of India"), by F. Finn (12 annas), with animal wall sheets, Macmillan and Co., Unmounted sheet, Rs. 2 each.

AIMS AND METHODS IN TEACHING THE OPTIONAL COURSE IN SCIENCE (CLASSES VII AND VIII).

In framing the courses for classes VII and VIII what has been kept in view is, on the one hand the limitations of poorly equipped schools, in which there are few facilities for practical work, and, on the other hand, the ambition of the better equipped schools to commence laboratory work as early as possible. The courses for classes VII and VIII may be worked through entirely in an ordinary class-room; but it is desirable that where facilities exist, even in these classes there should be some individual practical work by pupils. Where there are no facilities for practical work, as many as possible of the experiments should be performed by pupils at ordinary school desks, the remainder being done at the demonstration table by the teacher, assisted by pupils chosen from the class. In classes IX and X, in addition to class-work and demonstrations, all pupils should receive a regular course of practical instruction in the laboratory.

The subject-matter of the courses has been divided into different topics: "volume," "heat," "chemistry," etc., and each class advances its knowledge under each of these heads as far as possible; the main factors which determine the amount which can be attempted in any class are the knowledge of Mathematics possessed by the class, and the skill in experimental work which may be expected from it.

Although the subject has been thus divided into several topics, it does not follow that these should be taught as separate "subjects" in water-tight compartments. In teaching under any particular head the teacher should freely refer to what has been taught under other heads, when by so doing he can bring items of knowledge into close relation. In particular, it is undesirable and unnecessary to draw fine distinctions between Physics and Chemistry, and there is no need of separate laboratories for these two branches of Elementary Science.

The best laboratory for elementary work is the simplest, and any paraphernalia which tend to obscure the relation of cause and effect should be scrupulously avoided. The authorities do not recommend elaborate and expensive fittings; on the contrary, teachers are encouraged to utilize the simplest means by which the subject can be adequately studied.

While great importance should be attached to experimental work, it must not be forgotten that a principle is not thoroughly known unless it can be applied. The teacher should therefore invariably test the pupil's grasp of general principles, laws and formulae, by applying them, wherever possible, to the solution of examples involving calculation.

Thus each pupil in Science will have two note-books: one in which he enters a record of all experiments performed by him, and another in which he writes accounts of demonstration experiments performed by the teacher, and works numerical examples.

Diagrams of apparatus should be sectional elevations, not perspective drawings; these sectional sketches should be neatly and accurately drawn with the various parts approximately proportional in size.

Some uniform plan should be followed in entering the results of experiments; the "headings," "object of experiment," "apparatus used," "methods," "results" and "conclusion" are appropriate. Where possible, observations should be entered in tabular form.

Pupils should not rely on single determinations of quantitative results: whenever possible several should be found and the average calculated. The standard of accuracy should be laid down for each experiment, and each pupil should obtain results within the standard or should repeat his experiment until he has obtained a satisfactory result. This standard must vary with the nature of the experiment and the apparatus available, and should be laid down by the teacher himself.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN SCIENCE.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Class VII.—Measurement of volume by the graduated cylinder and burette. Heat. Expansion of solids, liquids and gases. Construction of a thermometer. The Centigrade thermometer. Chemistry: Definitions; common properties of common substances; solubility; crystallization; mixtures and compounds; physical and chemical change.

NOTE.—A course is given in the Appendix which indicates the minimum amount of practical work required to be performed by students and suggests methods of treatment of the syllabus for the guidance of teachers. It should be understood that teachers may substitute other experiments of equal educational value. Practical work should be co-ordinated with the theoretical work and follow it consecutively as far as possible.

The practical experiment should be performed individually as far as can be arranged.

Class VIII.—Weight; the principle of the balance; the physical balance.

Density of solids and liquids; relative density.

Principle of Archimedes.

Pressure: Force and Pressure; pressure of the air; the barometer.

Heat: Fahrenheit and centigrade thermometers; melting and boiling points; conduction, convection and radiation.

Books recommended for use of teachers:—

Exercises in Practical Physics, by Gregory and Simmons, Parts I and II (Macmillan and Co.).

Introductory Chemistry for Intermediate Schools, by Jones (Macmillan and Co.).

Physics and Chemistry for Middle Classes of Secondary Schools in India, in Urdu or Hindi, by E. G. Hill and A. H. Mackenzie (Macmillan and Co.).

APPENDIX.

Suggested treatment of the Science syllabus prescribed for Classes VII and VIII.

Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	List of experiments which should be done by the pupils.
	CLASS VII.
Length ..	Units in British system and Metric system. Calculations. Measurement of straight line.	1. Find the number of cm. in 1 inch.
	Measurement of curved lines. Rules for the length of the circumference of a circle.	2. *Measure the circumference and diameter of a circle and to find the value of π.
Area	Units in British system and Metric system. Rule for area of a rectangle. Calculations.	3. By squared paper prove the formula for the area of a rectangle.
	Use of squared paper to find the area of figures other than rectangles. Formula for the area of a triangle.	4. *By squared paper find the area of a triangle and irregular figures.
Volume ..	Units in British and Metric system. Rule for the volume of a rectangular solid. Calculations. The graduated cylinder.	5. Use of graduated cylinder to find the volume of large solids and the capacity of large vessels.
	The Burette	6. Use of burettes to find the volumes of small solids and the capacities of small bottles.
Weight ..	Distinction between mass and weight. Units in British system and Metric system. The balance.	7. Simple exercise in weighing, e.g., find the number of gm. in 1 ounce.
Density ..	Definition	8. Find the density of solids, being given rectangular pieces.
	Calculation	9. *Find the density of common liquids by means of burette.
Heat ..	Expansion of solids, liquids and gases by heat. Construction of a thermometer. Explanation of Centigrade thermometer.	10. Simple observations with the thermometer, e.g., find the boiling points of water and alcohol.
	CLASS VIII.
Heat ..	Comparison of Centigrade and *Fahrenheit thermometers. Calculations.	1. Observations with thermometer, e.g., cooling curve for water.
Area ..	Formula for the area of a circle. Calculations.	2. By means of squared paper or by weighing find the ratio of the area of a circle to the area of the square on its radius.
Volume ..	Formula for the volumes of sphere and cylinder, Calculations.	3. *By weighing "similar" cubes spheres, and cylinders verify the formulæ for the volumes of cylinder and sphere. (The experiment may also be done, but less accurately by the displacement of water).
Heat ..	Melting point of ice. Melting point of any solid. Conduction of heat. Comparison of the conducting powers of common solids. Convection of heat. Radiation of heat.	4. Find the melting point of paraffin wax or napthaline.

Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	List of experiments which should be done by the pupils.
	CLASS VIII—(concluded)
Hydrostatics ..	Relative density (or specific gravity). Principle of Archimedes. Determination of relative density by Archimedes' Principle. Calculations.	Determination by Archimedes' Principle of the relative density of— 5. (a) bodies which float in water. 6. (b) bodies which sink in water.
Chemistry ..	Definitions and common properties.	Measurement of relative hardness of different substances.
	Solubility. Influence of temperature on solubility.	To find out which of certain substances are soluble in water, e.g., lime, salt, marble; in alcohol, e.g., wax, salt.
	Crystallization. Water of crystallization.	From solution. From molten sulphur.
	Mechanical mixtures ..	Filtration, separation of sand and salt. Separation of iron and sulphur (magnet). Charcoal and nitre by solution and filtration.
	Chemical compounds, physical and chemical change.	Heating salt, sugar, sand, etc. charcoal and nitre. Iron and sulphur. Iron in solution of copper sulphate.

N B.—Experiments marked by an asterisk in the syllabus for classes VII and VIII may be done in class IX if classes VII and VIII are large: facilities for practical work limited, or the time table in Science restricted to only 3 periods of ½ hour each per week

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN MANUAL TRAINING.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Paper Folding and Cardboard Modelling—

A series of Exercises and Models in Shaping and Folding including Letter Forming, Geometrical Patterns, Box and Frame Making, etc, in paper and Mill Board, together with necessary Drawings.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

1. Woodwork—

(a) A series of models, graduated in respect of the tool manipulations involved, to be made in wood from working drawings (drawn in plan, elevation and side-view) or from a given pattern in wood; the construction of the models to involve the use of one or more of the following tools:—

Jack Plane, Try Square, Marking Gouge, Marking Knife, Smoothing Plane, Tenon Saw, Bevel, Screw driver, Firmer Chisel, Hammer, Mallet, Bradawl, Nail Punch, Compass, Firmer Gouge, Gimlet, Trying Plane.

The following joints should be included amongst the models:—

Half-lap, Housing.

(b) The care and maintenance in good working condition of the above-mentioned tools, omitting the sharpening and setting of the tenon saw.

2. Drawing—

Drawing in plan, elevation and side-view of all models in the course.

NOTE 1.—A scheme drawn up on the above lines is given in the Appendix. Teachers need not keep strictly to the particular models mentioned in the scheme, but if any changes in the models are made, these should not involve changes in the new tool manipulations employed.

NOTE 2.—"Manual Training for Secondary Schools in India," by A. H. Mackenzie (published by the Indian Press, Allahabad), is recommended for teachers' use in instructing classes in Manual Training.

APPENDIX.

Scheme of graded exercises in Manual Training.

Syllabus of the courses in Nature Study and Elementary Science.

(Vide memorandum issued under General letter no. G-17/XVII—109, dated the 8th May, 1920).

Syllabus of the courses in Physical Training.

Physical Training not necessarily requiring the use of apparatus, the form being left to the discretion of the Headmaster.

Text-book (recommended).

"Physical Drill," by J. C. Kempster and G. R. Kaye (Macmillan and Co.).

NOTE.—Urdu and Hindi versions of the book have also been approved for use in schools.

ALLAHABAD:
The 19th December, 1923.

OFFICE OF DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, UNITED PROVINCES.

LEAVE.

ORDER NO. A-300/XXII—5(53).

Dated Allahabad, the 17th January, 1924.

Babu Kanhaiya Lal Varma, B.A., C.T., Assistant Master, Government High School, Orai, leave on average pay on medical certificate for two months with effect from the 21st December, 1923, in extension of the leave already granted him by the Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division.

ORDER NO. A-302/XXII—5(18).

Dated Allahabad, the 19th January, 1924.

In supersession of this office order no. 126/XXII—5(18), dated the 10th July, 1923, Babu S. K. Banerji, B.A., C.T., Assistant Master, King Edward High School, Deoria, leave on average pay on medical certificate for five months with effect from 15th April, 1923, followed by leave on half average pay on medical certificate for six months in extension of the leave on average pay for three months already granted him by the Inspector of Schools, Gorakhpur division.

ORDER NO. A303/XXII—(552).

Dated Allahabad, the 19th January, 1924.

Babu Shama Charan Vais, Assistant Master, Government High School, Orai, leave on half average pay on medical certificate for twenty days in extension of the leave already granted him by the Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division.

APPOINTMENTS AND TRANSFERS.

ORDER NO. 304/XXIII—380.

Dated Allahabad, the 22nd January, 1924.

1. Maulvi Muhammad Isa, C.T., Assistant Master of Arabic and Persian, from Government Intermediate College, Fyzabad, to the Government Intermediate College, Allahabad, vice Munshi Muhammad Ibrahim, retired.

2. Maulvi Mohammad Jawad, Assistant Master of Arabic and Persian, from Government Intermediate College, Jhansi, to the Government Intermediate College, Etawah, vice Maulvi Abdul Majid, deceased.

3. The lien of Maulvi Saiyid Ishaq Ali, C.T., Assistant Master of Arabic and Persian at present on foreign service with the University of Allahabad, is transferrefromd Government Intermediate College, Fyzabad, to Government Intermediate College, Almora.

With effect from the dates they take charge—

1. Maulvi Hafiz Abdulla, Persian Teacher, Government Jubilee High School, Gorakhpur, to be Assistant Master of Arabic and Persian, Government Intermediate College, Fyzabad, in the Rs. 100—10—300 grade, on two years' probation, vice Maulvi Mohammad Isa, transferred.

2. Mirza Ali Ahmad, Persian Teacher, Government Jubilee Intermediate College, Lucknow, to be Assistant Master of Arabic and Persian, Government Intermediate College, Jhansi, in the Rs. 100—10—300 grade, on two years' probation, vice Maulvi Mohammad Jawad, transferred.

ORDER NO. 305/XXIII—12.

Dated Allahabad, the 23rd January, 1924.

Saiyid Riaz Haider, Intermediate, C.T., Assistant Master, from Government High School, Sitapur, to Government High School, Saharanpur, in the same capacity.

Babu Girish Chandra Gupta, S.F., C.T., Assistant Master, from Government High School, Saharanpur, to Government High School, Sitapur, vice Saiyid Riaz Haider, Intermediate, C.T., transferred.

A. H. MACKENZIE, M.A., B.Sc.,
Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces.

OFFICE OF DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, UNITED PROVINCES.

CURRICULUM FOR THE VERNACULAR TEACHERS' CERTIFICATE EXAMINATION OF 1926.

I.—FIRST LANGUAGE.

(a) Urdu students—

(1) Tuzuk-i-Urdu (smaller edition—Price 9 annas 6 pies), by Khan Sahib Munshi Muhammad Ismail, Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

(2) Baharistan-i-Urdu, by Saiyid Sharif Husain, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad. (6 annas.)

(3) Grammar.—Special attention to be paid to analysis and parsing and Safwat-ul-Massadir be taught as an aid to acquiring an incidental knowledge of Persian.

(b) Hindi students—

(1) Satya Harish Chandra Natak, published by the Nagri Pracharni Sabha, Benares. (3 annas.)

(2) Tulsi Das Ramayan, Ayodhya Kand, edited by Ram Ratan Sharma, and Chandra Hansa Sharma, published by Ratan Ashram, Agra. (12 annas.)

(3) Grammar.—Special attention be paid to analysis and parsing, and Riju-Vyakaran, part I, is to be taught as an aid to acquiring an incidental knowledge of Sanskrit.

II.—SECOND LANGUAGE.

(a) Urdu students—

(1) Urdu-ki-Panchwin Kitab by Khan Sahib Muhammad Ismail, Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow. (5 annas.)

(2) Shahid-i-Urdu by Muhammad Aslam Saifie, Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow. (5 annas.)

(3) Risala-i-Qawaid-i-Urdu, part II, published by the Mission Press, Allahabad. (5 annas 3 pies.)

(b) Hindi students—

(1) Hindi Middle Reader, parts I and II, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad. (8 annas each.)

(2) Hindi Middle Vyakaran, Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow. (6 annas 3 pies.)

II.—MATHEMATICS.

1. Arithmetic.—Decimal approximations; Contracted method in the four rules in Decimals; Averages; Present Worth and Discount. Easy graphs and their application to solution of easy problems involving simple proportion only.

2. Algebra.—Use of symbols; Substitution; Negative quantities; Four simple Rules; Use of brackets; Solution of easy problems involving one unknown quantity; Easy graphs; Simultaneous equations with easy problems and graphical solution.

3. Geometry : (a) Practical Geometry consisting of the following constructions together with easy extensions of them :—

Construction of tangents to a circle and of common tangents to two circles.

Simple cases of the construction of circles from sufficient data.

Construction of a fourth proportional to three given straight lines and a mean proportional to two given straight lines.

Construction of regular figures of 3, 4, 6 or 8 sides in or about a given circle.

Construction of a square equal in area to a given polygon.

(b) Theoretical Geometry consisting of the following theorems together with easy extensions and deductions with numerical illustrations :—

Illustrations and explanations of the geometrical theorems corresponding to the following algebraical indentities :—

$K(a + b + c + \ldots) = ka + kb + kc + \ldots\ldots$

$(a + b)^2 = a^2 + 2ab + b^2$

$(a - b)^2 = a^2 - 2ab + b^2$

$a^2 - b^2 = (a + b)(a - b)$.

The square on a side of a triangle is greater than, equal to, or less than the sum of the squares on the other two sides, according to the angle contained by these sides is obtuse, right or acute. The difference in the case of inequality is twice the rectangle contained by one of the two sides and the projection on it of the other.

The Circle.

A straight line drawn from the centre of a circle to bisect a chord which is not the diameter is at right angles to the chord ; conversely, the perpendicular to a chord from the centre bisects the chord.

There is one circle and one only which passes through three given points not in a straight line.

In equal circles (or in the same circle), (i) if two arcs subtend equal angles at the centres, they are equal, (ii) conversely, if two arcs are equal they subtend equal angles at the centres.

In equal circles (or in the same circle), if two chords are equal, they cut off equal arcs ; (ii) conversely, if two arcs are equal, the chords of the arcs are equal.

Equal chords in a circle are equidistant from the centre ; and the converse.

The tangents at any point of a circle and the radius through the point are perpendicular to one another.

If two circles touch, the point of the contract lies on the straight line through the centres.

The angle which an arc of a circle subtends at the centre is double that which it subtends at any point on the remaining part of the circumference.

Angles in the same segment of a circle are equal, and if the line joining two points subtends equal angles at two other points on the same side of it, the four points lie on a circle.

The angle in a semi-circle is a right angle, the angle in a segment greater than a semi-circle is less than a right angle, and the angle in a segment less than a semi-circle is greater than a right angle.

The opposite angles of any quadrilateral inscribed in a circle are supplementary ; and the converse. If a straight line touches a circle and from the point of contact a chord be drawn, the angles which this chord makes with the tangent are equal to the angles in the alternate segments.

If two chords of a circle intersect either inside or outside the circle, the rectangle contained by the parts of the one is equal to the rectangle contained by the parts of the other.

Proportion : Similar Triangles.

If a straight line is drawn parallel to one side of a triangle the other two sides are divided proportionally ; and the converse.

It two triangles are equiangular, their corresponding sides are proportional ; and the converse.

If two triangles have one angle of the one equal to one angle of the other and the sides about these equal angles proportional, the triangles are similar.

The internal bisector of an angle of a triangle divides the opposite sides internally in the ratio of the sides containing the angle and likewise the external bisector externally.

The ratio of the areas of similar triangles is equal to the ratio of the squares on corresponding sides.

NOTE.—The order in which the theorems are stated above is not imposed as the sequence of their treatment.

Books recommended for use.

(1) The Elements of Geometry in Theory and Practice (Urdu or Hindi), by A. E. Pierpoint or

(2) A School Geometry (Urdu or Hindi), by Halls and Stevens.

NOTE.—In addition to the above, students should possess a thorough knowledge of the methods of teaching the entire course prescribed in Mathematics for the Middle Vernacular Schools.

III.—HISTORY OF INDIA INCLUDING CIVICS AND GEOGRAPHY.

(a) History. The Pre-Muhammadan Period :—

1. Physical configuration of India. Distribution of land and water, mountains, rivers and the sea. Position in relation to the rest of the world. Historical consequence of the foregoing.

2. The aboriginal and non-aboriginal races.

3. The Vedic Age, The Aryans their immigrations and settlements, Aryan Culture, Social and economic conditions.

4. The Epic Age. Sacred Books. Surities and Smerities, Ramayan and Mahabharat.

5 The Brahmanic Age. Caste-system. Social, economic, religious and political condition in the 6th century B. C. Jainism and Buddhism. The growth of the kingdom of Magadha.

6. The Satrapy of Danus (Circa 500 B. C.) The invasion of Alexander the Great, its consequences and results. Breakdown of local independence. The Mauriya Empire, Chandra Gupta Mauriya, Magasthenes.

7. The Buddhist Age. Asoka, Social, religious and economic conditions under the Mauriyas.

8. The disruption of the Mauriya Empire—rivalry between Brahmanism, Buddhism and Jainism. The Prakrit dialect and Sanskrit. The Sunga, Canva, and Andhra dynasties (Circa A. D. 250).

9. Foreign influences—invasions and immigrations Indo-Greek, Indo-Bactrian, Indo-Parthian and Indo-Scythian dynasties. Revival of Buddhism, Kanishka's Empire, Greeks, Roman influence. The Great Satraps of the West, Religious and Social conditions (till Circa 300 A. D.)

10. The new Hindu Age. The Gupta dynasty and Empire. Brahmanic revival. Literary Activity. Religious and Social conditions. Fahian. The Hans, Break up of the Gupta Empire.

11. The reign of Harsha Vardhan, social, economical and religious condition (till Circa A. D. 650). Hioun-tsang, Bana. The early Chalukayan Empire in the Deccan. The Pallavas in the South India.

12. The Rajputs—Minor local dynasties in North India, Kabul, Punjab, Sind, Magadha, Kanauj, Delhi, Behar and Bengal, Bundelkhand C. P., Ajmer, Malwa and Gujrat.

13. The Empire of Deccan (to Circa A. D. 1300). The early Chalukayas. The Rastakutas. The latest Chalukayas. The Yadavas of Deogiri, Hoysalas and Kalatayas.

14. The South India Supremacy, the Pallavas. The Chola Supremacy, Choras and Pandeyas.

Mediæval India (Circa 1761).

1. Early Muhammadan invasions of Sind and their effects.

2. Mahmud of Ghazni and Muhammad Ghori.

3. The Pathan Dynasties—The Slaves, the Khijlies and the Toglaks. Taimur's invasion. Social, religious and literary condition. (Circa A. D. 1400).

4. Syeds and Lodies, Break up of the Delhi Empire, local Muhammadan dynasties in Jaunpur, Bengal, Malwa and Gujrat.

5. The Bahmani Kingdom of the Deccan, its break up in 1526, Final conquest and absorbtion by the Moghal Empire. History of the Empire of Vijyanagar till 1565 A. D.

6. The Moghals. Restoration of Pathan dynasty.

7. Akbar. His policy of conciliation, Administrative organization, Revenue, Judicial and Military Systems. His religious Faith. His Ministers.

8. Jahangir and Shah Jahan.

9. Aurangzeb—His policies. Alienation of the Hindus. The Deccan affairs His character and work.

10. Routes of India. European Trade, the Muhammadan conquests and the result on European Commerce. The age of Discovery. The Portuguese in India, Albuquerque. Causes of the decline of the Portuguese Power in India (till Circa 1600.)

11. The decline of the Moghal Empire, 1707—1761. The Marathas. Shivaji, and the Peshawas—their conquests Panipat, 1761. Rise of the Sikhs.

MODERN INDIA.

1. Importance of Sea power in India history. Early English attempt to reach India. Rivalry between the Dutch and the English till 1623. The French in India till 1741.

2. The Carnatic wars. Dupleix and Clive—French Supremacy in South India. The English in Bengal. The Black Hole tragedy—Plassey final French attempts—Coote and Lally (till 1761).

3. The administration of Bengal 1758—1771.

4. Rise of Haidar Ali. The First Mysore War. The revival of Maratha Confederacy Mahadaji Scindhia.

5. Warren Hastings. English Politics and Indian Affairs (1748—1772) Rohillas. The Regulating Act. Nand Kumar and his execution. Begums of Oudh and the Raja of Benares. The First Maratha and Second Mysore Wars. Pitts India Bill.

6. Lord Cornwallis and Sir John Shore. Third Mysore War, Econonic and administrative reform. The Policy of Non-intervention, Battle of Kurdela.

7. Lord Wellesley—Subsidiary system—War with Tipu. The Second and Third Maratha wars, Minor reforms Wellesley's work.

8. Cornwallis, Barlow and Minto, administrative reforms, Capture of Java.

9. Marquis of Hastings and Lord Amherst—Gurkha War. The Pindari War. The Fourth Maratha War. Extinction of the Peshwaship. The First Burmese War. The Bharatpur affairs.

10. Bentinck and his reforms.

11. Auckland and Ellenborough. Rise and History of Ranjit Singh. Afghanistan and the Punjab. The First Afghan War, and the avenging expedition. Conquest of Sindh—Gwalior affairs.

12. Hardinge and Dalhousie. The first and the second Sikh War, annexation of the Punjab. The Second Burmese War. The doctrine of Lapse—Dalhousie annexations—Railway and telegraph.

13. Canning—The Mutiny—Canning's clemency. The Queen's proclamation.

14. India under the Crown—Lord Canning First Viceroy—Financial and Military reforms. Lord Elgin, Lord Lawrence. Lord Mayo—Ambala Darbar—Visit of the Duke of Edinborough. Lord Mayo's Agricultural and Financial reforms.

15. Northbrooke and Lytton—Visit of Prince of Wales. Delhi Durbar—Afghan affairs.

16. Marquis of Ripon, Education Commission and Local Self-Government.

17. Marquis of Dufferin—Third Burmese War—Female hospitals. Marquis of Lansdowne and Lord Elgin—Chitral expedition.

8. Lord Curzon—Military reforms—Agrarian Policy—The Plague—North-West Frontier Provinces—Educational reforms. Death of Queen Victoria. Coronation Durbar.

19. Lord Minto—Visit of Prince of Wales and the Amir of Afghanistan. Council representation—Death of King Edward VII—United Provinces Exhibition.

20. Lord Hardinge—Chelmsford and Reading—Durbar at Delhi—The Great European War and India—Administrative reforms (1919). Visit of the Duke of Connaught, Visit of Prince of Wales.

Books recommended for the use of teachers :—

(1) V. A. Smith's History of India.

(2) Thompson's History of India.

(3) A Narrative of Indian History by J. C. Allen.

(b) Civics—

I.—The village.—Description, the village community and the panchayat; officers and functionaries—the lambardar, the patwari and the watchman; the school.

II.—The Town or City—Advantages of towns; town officials, the advantages of Local Self-Government—municipal boards; the State and public health; education.

III.—The District.—District Boards; the District Officer and his assistants; "majesty of the law."

IV.—The Province.—The Governor and his ministers; Councils. The transferred and reserved subjects with special reference to the Education department.

V—The Country.—The Viceroy; necessity of supreme control—the public peace—police and military; details of departments; the public income and expenditure, the Secretary of State, the India Council; the Parliaments; the Crown.

VI.—The Citizen.—His rights and responsibilities.

Books recommended for the use of teachers—

(1) G. Anderson's British Administration of India. (Rs. 3.)

(2) India under Company and Crown by H. A. Stark, Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1.)

(3) Primer of Indian Administration by Rushbrook-Williams.

(c) Geography—

A.—In extension of the knowledge of the subject—

(a) The study of Geography as prescribed for A.-V. Schools up to and including Class VIII, special attention being given to chapters dealing with Physical Geography and Cartography.

(b) A knowledge of the meaning of a "natural region" and of the distribution of the major natural regions according to Dr. Herbertson.

B.—Method:—

(a) The teaching of classes reading up to the Vernacular Final Examination from a text-book with close attention to the method of the author as regards questionnarie, aids and general arrangement.

(b) The use of aids such as wall maps, pictures and maps in books, outline maps, apparatus like the seleniun, telluriun compass, etc.

(c) Drawing of distribution maps, rainfall, temperature and wind charts, construction of sundial, clinometer.

(d) The arrangement and conduct of Geography excursions for classes.

IV.—DRAWING.

As in the Syllabus given below—

STAGE I.—Simple curved line objects—

A.—The circle	...	Turned objects having a circular outline, as a plate, coin, hoop, wheel, clock-face, sun, moon, etc.
B.—Modifications of the circle.		Orange, apple, ghara, football, pomegranate.

STAGE II.—

A.—The ellipse	...	Circular objects seen in perspective become ellipses, plate, coin, hoop, clock face, rim of a vessel, etc. Also felt cap, spectacle glass, etc.
B.—Modifications of the ellipse.		Egg, guava, brinjal, papita, jackfruit, gourd, cocoanut, pear, etc.

STAGE III.—Simple straight line object—

B.—Modifications	...	Flag, takhti. T-square, map, etc.
C.—Perspective	...	Any of the above classes of objects seen in perspective.

STAGE IV.—Curves and straight lines—

A.—Combined	...	Kite, spoon, bow, dumb-bell, Indian club, spectacles, tennis racket, wheel, etc.
B.—As seen in perspective		Thimble, tumbler, bottle, balti, drum, etc.

STAGE V.—

A.—Drawings of leaves in outline as type shapes.		As set out in section 5 of the scheme of Object Lessons for class III of Vernacular Schools.
B.—Drawing above in perspective	..	Care is to be taken to see that all leaves are copied when in positions similar to those in which they grow. Simple leaves should be drawn first, then those more complicated in form.
Book of reference	...	... Art Drawing for Indian Schools. By J. Y. Buchanan Macmillan). [4 rupees 8 annas].

NOTE.—The method to be adopted in teaching the subject is given in the Appendix.

V.—METHODS OF TEACHING.

Methods of Teaching.—The methods of teaching the following subjects in vernacular schools:—

Language (reading, spelling, writing, grammar and composition); History; Geography; Arithmetic; Geometry; Object Lessons; Drawing.

VI.—SCHOOL MANAGEMENT, PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

(a) School Management.—The Head Master, the classification of pupils, examinations, time-tables, home work, parental co-operation, corporate life, the hostel, games, and discipline.

(b) Class teaching and its principles and practice.—General principles the use of the voice the use of language; questions; answers; explanations, illustrations, descriptions, the blackboard, notes of lessons, boys' notes, exercises.

(c) Mental, Moral and Physical training.—Books recommended for the use of teachers:—

(1) A manual of school management for Normal Schools by H. T. Knowlton, published by Rai Sahib M. Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore.

(2) Instruction in Indian Secondary Schools by A. H. Mackenzie.

(d) Physiology.—Brief description of the human skeleton and muscular system; the circulation of the blood; brief description of the nervous system; the digestive organs; the organs and mechanism of respiration; the structure of the eye and ear.

(e) Hygiene—Lighting and ventilation of the class-room; physical exercises; eye sight and hearing; causes of mental fatigue: common infectious diseases, their signs and preventions; simple casualties; water, air and food with reference to their purity.

NOTE.—"Aiza-o-Sehat-i-Insani" or "Manushi Anga tatha Swastha" by K. C. Bhattacharya, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad, is recommended for use.

Books recommended for the use of teachers.—

(1) Manual of Hygiene by Charles Bank (Macmillan and Co.);

(2) Tandurusti ki Pahli Kitab, by Col. J. W. D. Megaw, Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

(3) Swastha Raksha ke Prathmic Neam (the Hindi version of Col. J. W. D. Megaw's First Laws of Health) Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

(4) Sehat ki Kahani, by E. Marsden, B.A., translated into Urdu by Munshi Abid Hasan Faridi, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. one.)

(5) Hindi translation of the Land of Health and the Land of Wealth, by Pandit Ram Narain Misra, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. one.)

VII.—NATURE STUDY.

This course is adapted from the course in Compulsory Science (Nature Study and Science knowledge) prescribed by the Department for Classes III to VIII of Anglo-Vernacular Schools for boys in the United Provinces. Teachers in Normal Schools should have copies of this larger scheme, and should keep in mind the suggestions offered in the prefatory note thereto.

It is not expected that all schools will cover the whole work set forth below; nor is it expected that all schools will choose the same topics. The present scheme is experimental, and should teachers favourably situated find that there is time for extra work they will easily be able to make a selection of further topics from the "Compulsory Science Course."

It is hardly necessary to point out that the scheme does not give the lessons in the order in which they should be taken as it is clear that topics under each of the sections might reasonably be the subjects of study during any given week. Careful consideration will show, however, that the topics in certain of the sections follow each other in a natural order.

It is assumed that every Normal School either has a garden already or has land available for a garden; and this is considered essential. The whole work in the garden should be done by the pupil-teachers, so that a number of "kodalis" and "khurpis" will be required. As regards other equipment, however, the department desire to remind those responsible for conducting the Normal School course that little or no apparatus will be available in the schools in which the pupil-teachers will later carry on their work; and those who have framed the course kept this point always in mind, and wish it to be understood that little additional apparatus is necessary, and that of the simplest. A few schools—constructed, or local-made articles, e.g., gauze-sided boxes for moths, etc.—will complete the list.

GENERAL PLAN OF SCHEME.

A.—Natural Phenomena.

I.—The effect of heat on water.
II.—The effect of heat on air.
III.—Hot air and its capacity for holding water-vapour.
IV.—Effects of cooling air.
V.—The main source of water and its distribution.
VI.—Resistance due to air.
VII.—Solids heat and cool more quickly than water.
VIII.—Differential heating of air.
IX.—Heating power of sun on various things.

B.—Animal Life.

I.—Ants.
II.—Grasshopper.
III.—Life History of two other garden insects.
IV.—Frog.
V.—Earth worm.
VI.—White ants.
VII.—The house fly.
VIII. The mosquito.
IX.—General observation of birds.

C.—Plant life.

I.—General observation and study of growth of certain plants.
II.—Plants and their parts.
III.—Collections of seeds.

D.—Earth and Soil studies.

I.—Rain water and its relation to the earth.
II.—Well water and spring water.
III.—Springs-formation.
IV.—River water.
V.—Irrigation.
VI.—Origin of soil.
VII. Deposition of soil.
VIII.—Texture of soil.
IX.—Water holding power of different soils.

E—General observation and sky and tree studies.

A.—NATURAL PHENOMENA.

I.—The effect of heat on water.

(a) Evaporation.—

(1) Observations and experiences from daily life. Drying up of ink-pots (ink being renewed more frequently in summer), pits, ponds, etc., drying of wet clothes, etc.

(2) Experiments in class:—

(i) artificial, by heating water in a flask;

(ii) natural, by placing a drop or two of water in a dish in the sun and watching the consequent disappearance of the water.

(b) The presence of water-vapour in the air—

(1) Observations and experiences from daily life—common salt, in our homes, becomes moist in the wet season; almost all articles of food become moist when kept for some time e.g. "namkin" or "paper."

(2) Experiments in class:—

(i) Expose a little calcium chloride or some such substance on the table. It becomes moist. Common salt will do if exposed for half an hour.

(ii) The sides of a tumbler containing ice are covered with drops on the outside which must have come from the atmosphere.

(c) Condensation.—

(1) Observations and experiences from daily life.

(i) Steam (visible) coming out from a boiling kettle (just above the liquid it is invisible).

(ii) Steam coming out from the pipe in engines (just near the mouth it is invisible).

(iii) We can see our "breath" on a winter morning, but not on a summer morning. Why?

(iv) A glass of cold water when brought into a warm room becomes covered with moisture. Why?

(2) Experiments in class:—

Hold a piece of ice or some cold object in the jet of steam coming out of a flask of boiling water and note the effect; hold a red hot iron bar in the same way and note the difference in the effects produced in the two cases.

II.—The effect of heat on air.

(a) Observations and experiments from daily life.—

(1) Smoke generally goes up. Why?

(2) Paper balloons are let off in fairs and at marriages; they have a flame burning inside and thus go on rising in the sky.

(3) A tasha (kettle drum) has to be heated before being beaten.

(b) Experiments in class.—

(1) Drop a few small pieces of paper, or some light substance, down the chimney of a burning lamp. They do not fall far, but rise again.

(2) A football bladder half-filled expands on heating.

III.—Hot air can hold more invisible water vapour than cold air.

(a) Observations and experiences from daily life.—

Compare the drying of wet clothes in summer and in winter.

(b) Have ready a flask of boiling water; take another empty flask, heat over spirit-lamp, invert second flask over flask of boiling water; cork second flask and continue to warm it over the flame. Cool the flask and notice the cloudiness. Also notice the observations under "Condensation."

IV.—The effect of cooling on the water vapour of the air.

(a) The formation of clouds.

(1) Observations and experiments—the same as noted under "Condensation" (1 and 2) respectively.

(b) Dew—

(1) Observations and experiences from daily life.—

(i) More dew on a calm than on a windy night.

(ii) More dew on a clear than on a cloudy night.

(iii) Window panes are found damp and covered with very small drops of water.

(iv) Is dew deposited more on a piece of slate, a sheet of paper, a blade of grass or on bamboo? Why?

(2) Experiments in class—

(i) Show that the outside of a glass containing ice-cold water is covered with drops of water which might be compared with dew drops.

(ii) Also place tepid water in a glass and note the difference in the effect.

NOTE.—The facts mentioned in (i) should be thoroughly discussed.

(c) Mist and fog.—

(1) Observations and experiences from daily life.

(i) Mists are often seen early in the morning, sometimes at night.

(2) Mountain tops or even hill tops are seen wrapped in mist; occasionally hillocks present a hazy appearance.

(3) Fogs are seen on cold mornings near a lake or river. Why?

(d) Difference between mist and fog and cloud—

It must be clearly brought out that fog is only a dense mist, and that cloud is nothing else but mist or fog formed high up in the air—only a difference of locality. Mist, fog and cloud are visible because the water has been partially condensed from the vapour forming small droplets.

(e) Rain.—

(1) Its formation—how the clouds further condense into rain by the running together of the particles of water forming drops which, unlike the clouds, cannot remain suspended in the air. Observe the little drops of water falling from the steam coming out of a pot.

2) Its disposal.—

(i) Part of it soaks through sandy soil—hence goes under-ground to re-appear again in springs and wells.

(ii) Part of it is evaporated, perhaps to form clouds again.

(iii) Part of it runs off the ground and forms streams, rivers and lakes.

NOTE.—All these facts are to be learnt from experiments and actual observations by the pupils.

(3) Its work.—

(i) It carries with it mud and sand, which it takes to rivers, streams, etc. These do the work of fertilizing, especially at flood times (the pupils have observed turbidity of flood water and a layer of soil left after a river flood).

(ii) It revives, dries up vegetation, and animal and insect life become more abundant after rain fall.

(See also under section D "Earth Studies.")

V.—The main source of water and its distribution.

(a) From former observations deduce that water vapour comes from every surface of water—especially from the ocean.

(b) Winds are the carriers of this moisture from the ocean to the interior of the land.

(c) After falling on land, some of it soaks in, the remainder again returns to the ocean or to the air.

VI.—Resistance due to air.

Air is a substance. Ordinarily we do not seem to feel it except in a high breeze or storm. Make a boy walk briskly against the wind with a broad sheet of stiff paper placed flat in front of him and then make him walk holding the sheet edgewise and notice the difference.

VII.—Solids heat and cool more quickly than liquids.

(a) Observations and experiences—

(i) Pupils have walked on sand at noon and at night also;

(ii) They have walked over stones and stone pavements at noon and at night also;

(iii) They have waded through some river or streamlet at noon and after dark also ;

(iv) The water of the wells in the morning feels warm in winter and cold in summer.

(b) Experiments in class.

Place in the sun pieces of solids—slate, iron, glass, etc., and also water and other liquids in dishes or cups, and after some time let the pupils note the effect of heat. Place all these things in the shade and let them note the difference.

VIII.—Where does air get heated.

(a) Most quickly ?

(b) Most slowly ?

The pupils know very well that the air over a land surface sand or gravel especially—gets more heated than that near a river or a lake They feel the cool breeze when walking along the banks of a river or a lake and they feel warm breezes when nearing a sandy place.

IX.—I.—The heating power of the sun on different kinds of things, e.g., mud, wood, iron, liquid, air, etc.

(a) Draw upon the observations and experiences of the pupils. Notice how wood cracks ; how iron expands ; notice the joints of rails on a railway track (in winter and in summer) ; how air expands (see experiment with football bladder in class III).

II.—The effects of wind and heat on the earth.

(a) Observations and experiences—

1. As a whole.—Here draw the pupils' attention to—

(i) the cooling effect of "Khaskhas tattis" on a hot day,

(ii) how water kept in an earthen jar or "surahi" keeps cool. But this does not happen in the monsoon period,

(iii) why perspiration has a cooling effect on a hot day, but in the rainy season it is so troublesome.

B.—ANIMAL LIFE.

I.—Ants.—Study their habits. Watch them travelling along an established path noticing what they carry, their conduct on meeting one another, their behaviour, when the path is disturbed, etc. See pupal stage.

II.—Grasshopper.—Behaviour, methods of locomotion, protective colouration, shedding of skin ; development of young compared with that of the silk worm or other caterpillar (there being no resting or pupal stage and less striking changes in form as the young becomes mature).

III.—Life history of two insects.—Study of two selected insects which are found damaging farm or garden crops (to be found in the school gardens). The life history is to be followed and the nature and extent of the damage to be noted.

IV.—Frog.—Collect eggs if possible (if not, tadpoles can be obtained), keep in school aquarium with water plants, watch and draw stages of development. Study habits of grown frog, food and feeding, methods of breathing, movements of eyes, manner of jumping and of swimming.

V.—Earthworm.—Find castings during the rains, notice and collect worms as they crawl out after a shower or look for them at night, with the aid of a lantern. Notice that, though without eyes, they are sensitive to light quickly crawling away from it. Observe the bristles, and study how, they together with the muscles that lengthen and shorten the body, are used in locomotion. Find young worms. Keep worms in the school-room in a box of moist soil and observe growth and habits. Use of the earth-worms to man.

VI.—White ants.—Study workers, observing them at their task of building mud galleries. If possible dig up a nest and look for the queen in the wingless egg-laying stage. Discuss damage done, and means of preventing it.

VII.—Housefly.—Breeding habits, life history, structure, manner of feeding, relation to disease, methods of eradication.

VIII.—Mosquito.—Life history, relation to malaria, breeding places, methods of exclusion and control.

IX.—General observation of four kinds of birds, including their recognition, food nesting habits, etc.

C.—PLANT LIFE.

I.—General observation of growth.

A. (a) Bean.—To shew structure of a two-leaved seed, food storage, germination, early simple and later compound leaves, development of fruit and attachment of seed.

(b) "Lauki."—Or bottle gourd, to show trailling habit, modification of stem into a tendril, large water tubes.

(c) For continued observation.—Maize or wheat, and gram.

B.—Plants and their parts:—

(a) The root and its work.—Branching of the root system. Root hairs and their relation to soil particles. Their constant renewal. Roots anchor plant to the soil and absorb water and mineral solution. Demonstrate osmosis by experiment.

(b) The stem and its work.—Different directions of growth; erect, oblique, horizontal, climbing. Put a balsam stem in red ink solution. Observe where water rises. Stems display the leaves to the light and carry material between root and leaves.

(c) The leaf—Arrangement with reference to light.—Make field observations of radical (jangli gobi) alternate (mango), opposite (guava), whorled (oleander) leaves. In all cases arrangement is such as to give all the leaves access to light. Trees expose many leaves to light at the tips of their many twigs. Some are finely divided so others may receive light through their divisions.

(d) The flower.—Structure and functions, wind and insect pollination, visits of bees to flowers should be observed, fertilization, development of the seed, how cross pollination is advantageous in giving double parentage to the young plant.

(e) The fruit.—What a "fruit" is. Fleshy and dry fruits. How the former are coloured to attract birds and other animals which assist the plant by distributing the seeds. How the latter burst to discharge seeds or are adapted to distribution by the wind or by clinging to animals. Advantages of seed distribution.

C.—Collection of seeds of plants both cultivated and growing wild :—

D.—EARTH AND SOIL STUDIES.

I.—Rain water and its relation to the earth :—

(a) Pure or not? Any sediment? (Rain shower in plains in March). How to get sediment out of water. Settling, Filtering. Making of a simple filter.

(b) Dissolved matter. Gaseous—determine by heating and noting rise of bubbles before water reaches boiling temperature. Solid—determine by evaporation after filtration.

II.—Well water or spring water : as available. Compare with rain water, especially as regards matter suspended and dissolved hard and soft water. Soap and its effects. A wind-mill. Its use. Construct one.

III.—Springs.—How formed. In addition a lesson or two should be taken comparing common rocks as to porosity, permeability. (Weigh samples of various rocks soak in water, wipe and weigh again.)

IV.—River water.—Comparison with I and II. Amount at different times of the year; and its relation to rainfall. How rivers are fed.

V.—Canal and other irrigation and methods of lifting water :—

VI.—Origin of soil.

(i) Rocks.—Their decomposition by water, winds, temperature changes, etc., by plant roots, by earth-worms, ants and other animals. Decay of plants.

VII.—Deposition of soil—

(i) By water.—Flowing water carries soil particles. The more rapid the flow the larger the particles carried, hence as the flow is checked. We get deposit in layers of particles of different sizes.

VIII.—Texture of soil.—Sand (loose), silt (semi-sticky) and clay (sticky). How they differ in the readiness with which water enters and the amount of water held. Demonstrate by using large glass tubes or lamp chimneys in which soil of these grades has been packed.

IX.—Water retentivity of different soil.—On the first rains of the monsoon compare depth of penetration of water into soil that has been stirred, and into compact, uncultivated soil. Fill tin cans having perforated bottoms with sand, silt, clay and humus respectively. Pour over them equal amounts of water measure what comes through each. Which retains most? Compare dryness of soil in which a plant has been grown with that simply exposed to air.

E.—GENERAL OBSERVATIONS, AND SKY AND TREES STUDIES.

Weather charts and nature calendars should be kept. For working this section see Compulsory Science Course. (Practical work in Natural Phenomena) and general sky observation and general tree studies.

Book recommended for the use of teachers.—'Birds of an Indian village' by D. Dewar, published by the Oxford University Press, Calcutta. Price Re. 1-4-0.

VIII.—PHYSICAL EXERCISES.

(1) The exercises taught in Vernacular Middle Schools with reasons for the various exercises (2) Infants' and boys' games which do not require apparatus.

Book recommended for use.—Urdu or Hindi version of "Physical Training," by Kempster and Kaye (Macmillan and Co.); [Re. 1 each].

APPENDIX.

NORMAL SCHOOL COURSE IN DRAWING.

Method.

The examination test is drawing on the blackboard only, but to enable students to pass this test they should be trained in the principles of object-drawing by means of work on paper and subsequently apply these principals to instruction of a class from the blackboard.

As it is a teacher's course, the method to be adopted should be that of drawing on the blackboard to a large scale, i.e., 3 feet in each direction, as being a convenient stretch for the arm, and the drawing being then within the compass of the eye as seen by the teacher and yet large enough to be seen by the pupil at a distance of 20 feet.

The drawings should be executed in as free a manner as possible, the arm being straight but flexible and the teacher standing not less than two feet from the blackboard.

The principal aim of the drawing to be taught later is to furnish an illustrated class record of the study of the character, etc., of the things seen by the scholars in their object lessons. Thus it is necessary that the drawing should also be done in books so as to be available for future reference.

These drawings should be free in character and, when possible, should be of the same size as the original; but if this is not possible, the scale of the enlargement or reduction should be stated below the drawing.

The standard of excellence in the drawing should not be that which shows the most neatly executed outline drawing of the subject studied, but rather that which most clearly conveys or records the point or points brought out in the lesson given.

It will be advisable therefore for the teacher (as well as his pupils) to combine his drawing lesson with his object lesson, and, to ensure this, the object-lessons and drawing lesson should, if possible, be consecutive period.

The method to be adopted when teaching this subject in the vernacular schools would be that in the object lesson the teacher will draw attention to certain facts and impress them on the minds of his pupils by large sketches on the blackboard. These should be carefully, copied in their books, or other drawings should be made by the pupils themselve from the objects under study.

This principle should also be adopted in the teacher's study, but it will be expected that his resulting drawings will show more searching observation and be executed so as to record best the character of the object under study and to impress most clearly upon the class the point illustrated.

The drawings on the blackboard (if in outline only) should be drawn with white chalk, but if representation of solid things be attempted in a solid way, they should be drawn with coloured chalks in as nearly the true colours as possible.

Sometimes, where it is found difficult to make a true rendering on a black surface, a large sheet of brown or white paper should be used for chalk and charcoal work.

For work in books, usually, an HB pencil will be found sufficient.

In drawing fruits sectional drawings will be of great advantage.

In all possible cases drawing should be executed without the aid of guiding lines, and even when necessary very few guiding lines should be used.

ALLAHABAD :
The 30th January, 1924.

(Sd.) A. H. MACKENZIE, M.A., B.Sc.,
Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces.

The following press communiqué is published for general information :—

A meeting of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, was held at Allahabad on the 22nd February, 1924, at 11 a.m. with the Director of Public Instruction (Mr. A. H. Mackenzie) in the chair. The regulations passed at the last meeting of the Board were confirmed and the temporary regulation by which candidates who have passed the Cambridge School Certificate Examination were declared eligible to appear at the Intermediate Examination in the academical year following that in which they passed the Cambridge School Certificate Examination was made permanent. The Board prescribed the method by which the practical work done in class by candidates in Economics for the Intermediate Examination should be assessed by the Board's examiners. The Board resolved that with effect from 1925 the Practical Examination in Science for the High School Examination should be abolished. The Board arrived at this decision on account of the practical difficulties in holding the examination and securing uniformity of standard. It was also resolved on the recommendation of the Committee of Courses in Commerce that the Practical Examination on the Typewriter should be abolished for the High School Examination with effect from 1925. The Board resolved that Indian Music should be included in the Curriculum of High Schools as an optional subject on which there should be no public examination.

10.	Ditto	ditto	Hindi for class V.
11.	Ditto	ditto	Part II, Urdu for class VI.
12.	Ditto	ditto	Hindi for class VI.

2. These books when ready will be prescribed in the curriculum for vernacular schools for girls in these provinces. The firms should send their representatives to the office of the Chief Inspectress of Girls' Schools, United Provinces, Allahabad, on the 25th and 26th March, 1924, to inspect the manuscripts and obtain all necessary information and instructions in regard to illustrations which should be printed in the several books. The illustrations which the Chief Inspectress of Girls' Schools will propose will be only suggestions, and the firms tendering for the publication of the books will have to redraw them and prepare their own blocks after the drawings have been approved by this Department.

3. Only sealed tenders will be accepted. Tenders should be sent under registered covers, addressed to the Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces, Allahabad. Inside the registered cover there should be another cover duly sealed and marked 'Tenders for printing of Girls' Vernacular Readers.' The tenders should be submitted by the 14th June, 1924, at the latest. Only one tender should be submitted. In submitting tenders publishers should state whether they are printers also and will themselves print the books, if they are not printers they should state what arrangements they will make for the printing of the books.

4. The conditions on which contracts for the printing and publication will be given will be as follows:—

(i) The copyright of the books and of the illustrations in them will remain with Government.

(ii) The contract will be for a period of five years. The books in question will be prescribed in the curriculum for vernacular schools for girls for the aforesaid period. Government reserve to themselves the right to prescribe in the curriculum alternatives to the readers in question at any time during the aforesaid period. No guarantee will be given as to the number of copies of the books required yearly, but the following are approximate numbers of girls using the books in each class:—

	Class I.	Class II.	Class III.	Class IV.	Class V.	Class VI.
Urdu ..	150	1,300	600	500	300	300

(iii) The books to be printed on 28 lb buff or half-bleached paper of good quality. Samples of paper, covers, printing and of the illustrations to be used, and specimens of similar books produced by the firm to be submitted by the firm when tendering.

(iv) Covers for the readers for classes III, IV, V, and VI to be stiff, for Lower Primary classes a paper cover will suffice. The size of the pages of books to be the same as of the books at present in use.

(v) The Urdu books to be lithographed and the Hindi books to be printed in iron type.

(vi) The tenderer should state the retail price at which the book or books will be sold. No royalty will be payable to Government.

(vii) A discount of 12½ per cent. will have to be allowed by the publishers to booksellers. No additional charge shall be made for packing, provided an order exceeds Rs. 20 in value.

(viii) The firm whose tender is accepted will be called upon to give an assurance that it will not undertake the preparation of keys or cram books or in any way concern itself with keys or cram books. It will also have to sign an agreement with Government the main points in which will be as follows:—

(a) That the firm shall maintain the same standard of print, pictures, paper and binding both in the first and subsequent issues.

(b) That it shall not increase the price of a book or books during the period of contract without the previous sanction of Government.

(c) That it shall print and keep in stock a sufficient number of copies of the book or books for the needs of the schools and will make satisfactory arrangements for their sale throughout the province.

(d) That the contract shall be given for a period of five years only with effect from 1st July, 1925, but Government shall reserve to itself the right to cancel the contract if at any time during the period of the contract the conditions of the agreement are not observed. In such a case Government will make it a condition with the firm to whom the printing and publication may be subsequently entrusted that it will take up the stock of books less 18 per cent. discount up to a maximum of 10 per cent. of the average annual sales remaining in the hands of the publishers whose contract is cancelled under this clause.

(e) That the firm shall be prepared to make any changes which may be considered necessary or desirable by the department or by Government when the second or subsequent editions are printed, provided the desired changes are communicated to the firm in good time. It shall also be incumbent on the firm to inform the department at least two months before the printing of second or subsequent editions is taken in hand.

(f) That when there is any appreciable decrease in the price of paper, labour, etc., the firm will be prepared to make proportionate reductions in the price of books.

Copies of the form of application are sent separately. More copies, if required, can be obtained from this office. All the applications and fees should be collected and sent to this office with a covering letter, as far as possible in one lot. When accepting the applications special care should be taken to see that all the columns thereof have been properly and legibly filled in.

M. G. V. COLE,
REGISTRAR,
Allahabad University.

ADMISSION OF TEACHERS TO DEGREES.

Ordinances made in reference to section 5(2) (b).

1. Teachers in educational institutions will be eligible for examinations of the Allahabad University by the permission of the Academic Council subject to the conditions laid down in these Ordinances.

2. A teacher who desires to enter for an examination must apply to the Registrar in the prescribed form not less than six months before the examination, and must enclose with his application the following:—

(a) A certificate from an Inspector of Schools or the Head of the educational institution in which he has taught last that he has served continuously as a teacher for 18 months in one or more institutions recognised by the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, U. P., or the University of Allahabad, and that before the commencement of such service he had passed the Intermediate or the Commercial Diploma Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, U. P. or an equivalent examination, or the B.A. or B.Sc. Examination of the Allahabad University of some other university recognised by Law in British India.

Provided that a teacher may appear at the Final M.A. Examination if, after having passed the Previous Examination he serves continuously as a teacher in one or more of the above-mentioned institutions during the 12 months immediately preceding the examination at which he wishes to appear and produces a certificate from one of the abovementioned persons to the effect that on the date of the examination he will, unless his period of services has been interrupted, have completed a full period of one year's teaching.

(b) A certificate of character from an Inspector of Schools or the Head of the educational institution in which he has taught during the period prescribed in clause (a) of this Ordinance;

(c) The prescribed fee for the examination;

(d) The enrolment fee of Rs. 10 for becoming a member of the University.

3. The examinations to which candidates may be admitted under these Ordinances shall be the same as those for the Associated Colleges.

4. Candidates shall not be allowed to offer Science subjects for the Degree Examinations, unless they satisfy the Academic Council that they have completed a course of instruction in Practical Science in an institution approved by the Faculty of Science during the year preceding the examination.

5. Where a candidate applies for permission to appear at a University Examination as an external student, and his application is rejected, Rs. 8 out of the Rs. 10 paid under Ordinance 2 (d), shall be refunded to him.

NOTIFICATION NO. B/1155.

Dated Allahabad, the 9th June, 1924.

Whereas it has been decided that instead of three papers prescribed in Latin for the High School Examination of 1925 only two papers be set, the syllabus and text-books prescribed for the said examination shall be distributed between the two papers as follows:—

BOARD OF HIGH SCHOOL AND INTERMEDIATE EDUCATION, UNITED PROVINCES.

The following rules for the scrutiny of marks and the checking of the results of failed candidates are published for general information.

1. Any candidate who has failed at an examination conducted by the Board may apply to the Secretary for the scrutiny of his marks and the re-checking of his result.

2. Such applications must be made within two months from the date of the publication of the result and must be forwarded by the Head of the institution or other authority who forwarded the candidate's original application for permission to appear at the examination.

3. All such applications must be accompanied by a copy of the Treasury chalan showing that the prescribed fee of Rs. 10 has been paid. In the case of candidates belonging to Indian States this fee must be sent in cash to the office of the Secretary.

4. A candidate shall not be entitled to a refund of the fee unless as a result of the scrutiny he is declared successful in the examination.

5. If on scrutiny and re-checking, a failed candidate is found to have passed, his name shall be at once published in the Gazette in a supplementary list. In all other cases the result of the scrutiny shall be communicated to the candidate through the Head of the institution or other forwarding authority as soon as possible.

Dated Allahabad, the 7th July, 1924.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to invite your attention to the Regulations contained in Chapter VII of the Board's Regulations, and particularly to Regulation 3 thereof, which prescribes a definite date for the submission of applications for recognition to this office. Some laxity has been allowed during the past in the observance of this regulation, on the presumption that the Regulations of the Board were not sufficiently well-known. The Regulations have now been in force for upwards of a year and there can no longer be any excuse for Heads of institutions being ignorant of them. Moreover, the work of the Board's office has considerably increased in the present year and it is no longer possible, without detriment to important work connected with the conduct of examinations, to deal with applications for recognition unless they are received by due date.

I am, therefore, directed to say that, in future, applications for recognition will not be considered unless they are received by due date.

I am also to observe that applications for recognition in additional optional subjects are, under Regulation 10, Chapter VII, of the Board's Regulations, required to be submitted on the prescribed form and to follow the same procedure and be submitted by the same date, as is laid down in Regulation 3, Chapter VII, for the recognition of institutions. In future, these applications also will not be considered unless they are received by due date.

SENATE HOUSE:
The 15th November, 1924.

PRESS COMMUNIQUÉ.

The following Press Communiqué is published for general information :—

The annual meeting of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, was held at Allahabad on the 8th November, 1924, at 11 a.m. with the Director of Public Instruction (Mr. A. H. Mackenzie) in the Chair.

The Board appointed the following members of Committees to fill up existing vacancies :—

Major D. R. Ranjit Singh, the Rev. Dr. C. A. R. Janvier and Babu Ganga Prasad on the Finance Committee ; Dr. Tara Chand and Dr. L. K. Hyder on the Recognition Committee; Dr. K. N. Bahl on the Examinations' Committee; Mr. A. A. Simpson on the Committee of Courses in Modern European Languages; Dr. K. C. Mehta on the Committee of Courses in Biology; Maulvi Mehdi Husain Nasri and Dr. W. S. Dudgeon on the Curriculum Committee; Mr. N. K. Sur on the Committee of Courses in Physics; Dr. Radha Kumud Mukerji on the Committee of Courses in Civics.

A special subject consisting of Physiology, Hygiene, and Child Study which should be a preparation either for the teaching profession or for domestic life was approved by the Board for girls at the Intermediate stage.

The courses for the High School, Intermediate and Commercial Diploma Examinations of 1927 as well as those for the Middle Section for the year 1925-26 were finally passed.

The following new Examination Centres were fixed for the examinations of 1925:—

(1) N. R. E. C. Intermediate College, Khurja, for the Intermediate Examination;

(2) S. S. M. Intermediate College, Chandausi, for the Intermediate and Commercial Diploma Examinations;

(3) D. A.-V. College, Cawnpore, for the Intermediate and Commercial Diploma Examinations;

(4) Meerut College for the Commercial Diploma Examination.

The Central Provinces High School Certificate Examination was recognised as equivalent to the High School Examination of the Board.

The Board made draft Regulations for the admission of scholars in Oriental Languages to the High School and Intermediate Examinations in English only as private candidates.

The following new institutions were recognised by the Board:—

Shree Sumer Pashtikar School, Jodhpur (Marwar) and Aditya Kumari Kshattriya School, Tirwa, District Farrukhabad, as High Schools and

Herbert High School, Kotah (Rajputana) as an Intermediate College.

The N. R. E. C. Intermediate College, Khurja, and the Kayastha Pathshala College, Allahabad, were recognised for the Commercial Diploma Examination.

The Board resolved that History—Geography be recognised as two separate subjects for the High School Examination.

The Board finally passed the following amendment to Regulation 3, Chapter XIV:—

"No candidate shall be admitted to the Intermediate Examination unless two academical years shall have elapsed since the date of his or her passing the High School or an equivalent examination:

Provided that candidates who have passed the Cambridge School Certificate (Senior Local) Examination may be admitted to the Intermediate Examination in the academical year following that in which they pass the Cambridge School Certificate Examination."

The Board finally passed the draft Regulations for the proposed Agricultural Diploma Examination together with the courses for this examination, and resolved that the first Agricultural Diploma Examination be held in 1926.

NOTICE.

IN pursuance of Government of India, Finance department resolution no. 1725-F. E., dated the 23rd August, 1922, notice is hereby given that candidates desirous of applying to have their names registered for the examination of candidates in India for admission to the general list of the Indian Audit department should send in their applications so as to reach this office not later than the 1st February, 1925. A candidate desirous of having his name registered should pay a fee of Rs. 5 into a Government Treasury and enclose the Treasury receipt with his application. The applications, which should be in the candidate's own handwriting, should contain information regarding the educational qualifications of the candidates as well as information regarding any services that may have been rendered to the State by their parents or family. The optional subjects in which they would, if nominated, offer themselves for the examination should also be stated. The following papers should accompany the application :—

(1) A duly verified statement of age. (A true copy of the School-Leaving or Matriculation Examination Certificate should be sent.)

(2) Attested copies of certificates of character and education.

(3) A statement, duly supported, showing the mathematical reading which the candidate has done and the examinations involving mathematics which he has passed.

Candidates who are members of an affiliated college should send their applications through their Principal, and those who are teachers in recognized schools through the Inspector of the division.

It must be clearly understood that registration of a candidate's name does not, in any way, imply that he will be nominated for admission to the examination.

A nominated candidate will be required to pay a fee of Rs. 50 for each nomination.

Copies of the rules may be obtained from the office of the Director of Public Instruction on application.

ALLAHABAD :
The 25th November, 1924.

THE INSPECTORS OF SCHOOLS, UNITED PROVINCES.
THE ASSISTANT INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS,
KUMAUN DIVISION, ALMORA.
THE PRINCIPALS OF GOVERNMENT INTERMEDIATE COLLEGES AND HEADMASTERS OF GOVERNMENT HIGH AND NORMAL SCHOOLS, UNITED PROVINCES.

Dated Allahabad, the 28th November, 1924.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to state that in accordance with the instructions issued in connection with the separation of Audit and Accounts, all bills for medical inspection are sent to the Accounts Section of my office for payment by cheque, but as the number of such bills in each month is large, delay in payment is inevitable. The amounts of the bills vary from Rs. 5 to Rs. 30. Cheques are required to be issued in favour of the medical officers concerned. To avoid unnecessary multiplication of cheques and to reduce work in connection therewith, I have now decided that the medical allowance bills should be paid quarterly in arrears in accordance with the procedure detailed below.

2. There are two classes of payments, viz. (1) Inspection allowances for aided institutions, (2) medical allowances for Government hostels and institutions. The bills in both cases are to be prepared as at present by the medical officers. The procedure with regard to countersignature should be as detailed in Accountant-General's circular letter no. T.M./18, dated the 7th June, 1924 (published at page 243, Part V of the United Provinces Gazette of 14th June, 1924). In the case of inspection allowances for aided institutions, the bills duly countersigned by the Manager of the schools concerned and the Civil Surgeon or Superintendent District Jail, or Superintendent of Police, as the case may be, should be forwarded to the Inspector of Schools concerned, who after consolidating the bills by districts should submit one consolidated bill for each district duly countersigned by himself to the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts), Allahabad for payment by cheque. In the case of medical allowances for Government hostels and institutions, the bills duly countersigned by the Civil Surgeon or Superintendent District Jail, or Superintendent of Police, should be sent to the headmaster or principal, who in his turn should consolidate the bills of each school, if necessary, and submit quarterly to the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts) for payment by cheque one consolidated bill duly countersigned by himself with the necessary certificate for each school. The consolidated bills should be prepared in Treasury Form no. 355 (detailed pay bill of permanent establishment). In both cases the cheques will, as heretofore, be issued by the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts) in favour of the medical officers to whom payment is due.

3. In the consolidated bills the names of medical officers claiming allowance should be shown separately and the total claim for the quarter for each should be shown in one lump sum against his name in the money column, the details by months, etc., being shown in the body of the bill. As the original bills claiming allowance would remain with the inspectors, headmasters, etc., the officer submitting the bills to the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts) will record the following certificate on the consolidated bill :—

> "Certified that bills in proper form and duly receipted have been received from all the medical officers whose allowances have been included in this bill and the original bills have been so defaced and filed in my office that no second claim can be preferred by the officers concerned."

4. In respect of medical allowance of gazetted officers, the bills may be prepared quarterly in arrears (i.e., one bill for each quarter) for submission after countersignature to the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts), United Provinces, Allahabad, along with the necessary certificate, as hitherto.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

A. H. MACKENZIE,

Director of Public Instruction,

United Provinces.

PREFATORY MEMORANDUM.

Head Masters and Managers are permitted, with the approval of the Inspector, and in conformity with the general principles that underlie the curriculum, to make modifications in the classwise distribution of the work in any subject.

Object lessons prescribed in the curriculum as optional subjects from class II downwards should not be introduced into any school without the permission of the Inspector, who should satisfy himself that trained teachers are available and can be spared for teaching them. In no case should the work be entrusted to untrained teachers.

The teaching of English by the Direct Method should not be attempted except by specially trained teachers. Where such teachers are not available in sufficient numbers for all classes, a teacher or teachers, qualified to give such instruction, might be employed to supplement the ordinary class teaching by taking classes separately for an hour or so a week each.

Informal teaching on the subject of good manners should be given in all classes.

Hygiene and Temperance Teaching.

Informal talks in class on hygiene and on the evils, both physical and moral, resulting from intemperance should be held by teachers at intervals during the session.

Note 1.—Books recommended for the use of teachers are:—

The First Laws of Health (A Health Reader for Indian Schools), by Lieutenant-Colonel Megaw (Oxford University Press, Calcutta, 1921), (Re. 1).

Swastha Raksha ke Prathmic Niyama (the Hindi version of Colonel J. W. D. Megaw's First Laws of Health), Oxford University Press, Calcutta (12 annas.)

Sehat ki Kahani (Urdu translation of the Land of Health and the Land of Wealth), by E. Marsden, translated into Urdu by M. Abid Hasan Faridi and published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1).

Hindi translation of "The Land of Health and the Land of Wealth" by Ram Narayan Misra, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1).

Hifzan-i-Sehat, Parts 1 and 2 in one Volume in Urdu, by M. Rahmat Elahi Siddiqi, Sub-Assistant Surgeon, corrected edition, published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Rs. 2).

Chart Rules of Health in Urdu, by B. J. Sahni, Lahore. Mounted on cloth with rollers (Rs. 2-8-0).

Elementary Hygiene for Beginners, by C. F. Wanhills (Blackie & Son), (14 annas).

Alcohol and the Human Body, by Sir Victor Horsley and Mary D. Sturge (Macmillan and Co.), (3*s.* net).

Alcohol and Life, by J. A. Hunter (Macmillan and Co.), (1*s.* 6*d.*).

Manual of Temperance (Urdu or Hindi), by M. Mewa Ram, B.A., late Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division (6 annas each).

Note 2.—Head Masters should see that the subjects are not neglected and that the teaching is not merely perfunctory.

ABSTRACT FROM THE MEMORANDUM ON HOME LESSONS.

(Issued under the authority of G. O. no. 790/XV—212, dated the 19th August, 1910, Educational department.)

(1) The aim in setting home lessons should be that a boy should be able to prepare his tasks thoroughly, and yet have sufficient spare time to devote to healthy recreations, mental and physical, of his own choice.

(a) In the Lower Primary and Preparatory Sections no home lessons should be set at all. If the school hours are properly utilized, there is ample time for the teacher to teach and for the scholar to learn and apply what he has been taught.

(b) In the Upper Primary Section the approximate time to be devoted to home lessons should not exceed one hour.

(2) Home work should not be exacted from a scholar in too many subjects on the same day, nor too much in one subject. In this matter the Head Master must exercise controlling authority over the class teachers. He should enquire from them from time to time what amount of work is set in the various subjects, and should see that too much time has not to be given to the study of one subject at the expense of another.

(3) Home work is one of the most important means whereby the student can be trained in the habit of doing things for himself. It must be something which he can accomplish on the basis of what he has learnt in school, not something beyond his powers which necessitates recourse to the assistance of a private tutor. A boy who is always being helped in the preparation of his home work by a private tutor loses confidence in himself and the habit of doing things independently. Moreover work, which is the result of collaboration with a private tutor, affords no criterion of the boy's capacity progress or industry.

(4) Home work should be not only such as can be done without assistance but such as implies effort. It should never be a merely mechanical exercise which involves no intellectual exertion. It should not, for example, consist of the transcription of " rough " work done in school. Under the influence of unsound tradition there has been and still is much waste of labour in this way. Such work is manual, not mental, and should be altogether unnecessary for boys who have been trained in habits of neatness and accuracy.

(5) It cannot be expected that boys should break much new ground for themselves. They should therefore be almost exclusively occupied in going over the ground already covered in class, and this work of assimilation should be tested by the teacher at the beginning of a fresh lesson. It may therefore be laid down as a general rule that written exercises upon matter not already taught in school should rarely be set in the Upper Primary Section. The work at home should take the form of recapitulating the work done in the day and of training the memory, which at this stage may be most usefully exercised. But since scholars cannot be expected to take much interest in what they find neglected by the teacher, written exercises should be punctually corrected and returned to them as soon as possible. It is most important that the work of this nature should never be allowed to fall into arrears.

(6) There is a tendency to relegate too much written work to out-of-school hours. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the best means of training pupils to write clearly, to arrange their work neatly, and to take pains is to insist on these points in class note-books, used in school under the eye of the master. There is plenty of time in school for written work of the nature of applying knowledge, if the teacher arranges his lessons properly. It may, in fact, be laid down as an almost invariable rule that no written work should be set as part of home lessons in the following subjects :—Arithmetic, original composition and nature study and elementary science, nor should work be set in copy-book writing, in drawing or in elaborate map-making.

AIMS IN THE TEACHING OF ENGLISH.

The aims in the teaching of English are :—

A. Practical.—To enable the pupil—

(1) to speak and read aloud English with correct pronunciation and some degree of facility;

(2) to understand the language when spoken;

(3) to write the language with grammatical correctness and with facility.

B. Literary.—To enable the pupil to read intelligently for pleasure modern English prose and poetry of moderate difficulty.

C. Linguistic.—To qualify the student by the systematic study of the structure of the language and by practice in its use for the further study of English literature.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ENGLISH.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Conversation and reading.—The early stages of instruction will be mainly oral, and should include systematic training in the sounds of spoken English in connection with the pronunciation of easy words. By the end of the year the class should be able to carry on simple conversation about familiar objects and actions.

To read with correct pronunciation an easy primer, to render into the Vernacular easy sentences from the primer, to use the words of the primer in simple sentences, and to answer in English simple questions based on the matter in the primer.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the primer; copy-writing in ruled books of easy familiar words; writing in copy-books (in the latter half of the course); dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the primer.

CLASS IV.

Conversation and reading.—To converse about common objects and actions; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader, to render into Vernacular easy sentences from the reader, to use the words of the reader in simple sentences, and to answer in English simple questions based on the matter in the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader; dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the reader; writing in copy-books.

Grammar and composition.—Formal grammar should be commenced; division of a sentence into two parts: subject and predicate. To point out nouns, pronouns, adjectives and verbs (without sub-classifications). Oral and written exercises in the above.

Easy written composition (at least once a week), e.g., completion of sentences. Easy written composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences (at least once a week).

TEXT-BOOKS.

In Classes III and IV the following primers and readers are prescribed :—

		Indian Readers—			Longmans' English course for Indian schools :—
III	Primer ...	Primers, nos. I and II (4 annas each).	King Primer (5 annas) or Conversational Readers, First Primer (2 annas) and Second Primer (3 annas); or Macmillan's Modern Indian Readers—The Primer, 1923 edition), (3 annas).	First Direct Method English Reader (5 annas).	1st year teachers' book (8 annas). For teachers' use only.	...	Book I (5*d.*).
IV	Book I ...	Reader no. I (6 annas).	New English Reader I (5 annas), or Conversational Readers, Readers I and II (3 annas each); or Macmillan's Modern Indian Readers—Book I (5 annas).	Second Direct Method English Reader (8 annas).	1st year reading book (4 annas).	Book I (10 annas).	Book II (7*d.*).

The English copy-books to be used are—

Class.	Series.
	Longmans, Green & Co.		Gulab Singh & Sons.	Blackie & Son (Vere Fosters).	Blackie & Son (Reversible copy-books).
	Upright.	Semi-upright.
III and IV	1, 2, 3 (Re. 1-8-0 per dozen.)	2, 3, 4 (Re. 1-8-0 per dozen.)	1, 2, 3, 4 (1 anna 6 pies each.)	1, 2 (2*d.* each.)	1, 2 (4*d.* each.)

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF MATHEMATICS.

Reasons for teaching Mathematics.—We teach Mathematics with a two-fold aim. On the one hand we use the subject as a means of developing the intelligence of the pupil; on the other hand, we endeavour to make him skilful in such operations with numbers as are likely to be of practical use. Thus the teacher will endeavour to make clear to pupils the reasons which underlie processes, and will also train them to gain the power of rapid, accurate and confident calculation.

Neatness and arrangement in written work.—Great stress should be laid on neatness and care in arrangement. Errors in working can often be traced to slovenly arrangement or badly-formed figures. Pupils should be trained to arrange their work in a series of logical steps, for each of which a reason can be given. Particular care should be taken in the early stages that units are not omitted, and that every line is a correct statement.

Oral work.—All new processes should be introduced and fixed in the mind by means of examples worked on the blackboard. These should involve only small numbers so that calculations may be performed without resort to pen and paper. Even after a new rule has been established "Mental Arithmetic" should be a feature of most lessons. A few minutes given daily to the oral solution of problems is a valuable means of revising past work and in training pupils to gain rapidity and confidence in calculation. Up to class IV the teaching should be largely oral.

Concrete illustrations.—Wherever possible, concrete aid should be used. In the earliest stages the various operations should be taught by means of illustrations with objects which can be easily procured, such as headless matches, nuts, etc. Tables of weights and measures should be visualized by measurements of lengths, areas, volumes, capacities and weights; pupils should be practised in estimating the weights of common objects, the heights of tables, rooms and buildings, the areas of surfaces, the capacity of vessels, and the distances between fixed points in the class-room and play-ground, and should verify their estimates by experiments.

Nature of examples.—Once a rule has been learnt it should be applied to varied examples, both oral and written. Examples should, as far as possible, relate to matters within the experience of pupils, and the numbers employed should be such as are likely to occur in practice; thus although pupils should be made familiar with operations in British money, prices in problems should, as a rule, be given in Indian money. Operations with large numbers should be the exception, and when they are employed they should be taken from real life, census returns, statistics of trade, returns of revenue, etc. To test the grasp of a new process and to connect it with what has been already learnt, it should be applied to problems which involve also the application of previous rules; thus no preceding rules should be allowed to drop out of sight.

Revision.—In no subject is revision more necessary than in Mathematics. As the mental machinery of pupils becomes somewhat rusty from lying up for the vacation, such revision is especially necessary at the commencement of each session.

Text-book.—Even the best text-book cannot take the place of the teacher. He has to expand the theory, which is usually a brief summary; he has also to provide the concrete illustration, to break down the artificial barriers which separate topic from topic, and to supplement the lists of examples by supplying oral questions and by inventing problems which are likely to bring the subject into close touch with the interests of the pupils.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ARITHMETIC.

PREPARATORY SECTION.

CLASS A.

Arithmetic.—Notation and analysis of numbers in connection with concrete objects, as far as 50, and the writing of those numbers. Oral addition of any two numbers whose sum does not exceed 50, and subtraction of any two numbers neither of which exceeds 50. Simple oral problems in addition and subtraction. Construction and memorizing of tables up to 5×10.

CLASS B.

Arithmetic—Revision.—Notation of numbers as far as 1,000. Analysis of numbers as far as 100. Simple addition of numbers, the answer not to exceed 1,000. Simple subtraction of any two numbers, neither of which exceeds 1,000. Construction and memorizing of tables up to 10×10. Simple multiplication by numbers not greater than 5. Simple oral and written problems in the above.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Arithmetic—Revision.—Notation extended to one lakh (1,00,000). The four simple rules with no term or answer exceeding one lakh. Construction and memorizing of multiplication tables up to 16×12. Addition and subtraction in Indian money with no term or answer exceeding Rs. 1,000. Simple oral and written problems in the above.

CLASS II.

Arithmetic—Revision.—Further extension of notation to crores and millions. The four compound rules and reductions in Indian money and weights in common use in the United Provinces, with miscellaneous examples. Simple oral and written problems in the above.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Arithmetic—Revision of the previous work with special attention to (i) the best methods of working; (ii) application to oral and written problems relating to things within the experience of the pupil; (iii) rapidity in oral work; and (iv) neatness and orderly arrangement in written work. The four compound rules and reductions in British money. Factors and prime numbers.

CLASS IV.

Arithmetic—Revision.—G. C. M. or H. C. F. by factors. L. C. M. The four compound rules and reduction in British weights, and measures of length, time and capacity in common use; instruction to be as realistic as possible. The four simple rules in vulgar fractions with easy examples. Oral and written problems in the above.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Arithmetic.

The books recommended for use are :—

Classes I and II.—Vernacular School Arithmetic for Classes I and II (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (Urdu, 5 annas 9 pies; Hindi, 4 annas 6 pies).

Classes III and IV.—Anglo-Vernacular School Arithmetic for Classes III and IV (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Urdu, 10 annas ; Hindi, 9 annas 3 pies); or Modern Arithmetic, Book 1 (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (8 annas).

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is on the one hand a study of the configuration of the Earth—its continents, seas, mountains, forests, rivers, etc., on the other hand it is a study of the needs of man and how he makes provision for these needs. Thus we only partly teach geography if we limit our teaching to a study of physical facts; the chief value of these facts is that they help us to understand how men live and work in different parts of the Earth.

In studying a country consider it first as a whole—its general build, the long and short slopes of the land, the way in which rivers run, where there are large fertile tracts, where desert and where forests. Then in more detail the great mountain ranges, the chief river basins, the great plains, the climate, the population and occupations, the political divisions, the trade routes and towns. For each of the these topics a separate map should be drawn on the blackboard and by the pupils.

The teaching should not be confined to a mere list of names. Facts are of value only if brought into relation with other facts. The teachers should point out why here there is a forest, there a desert, how the nature of the coast has promoted intercourse with other countries, how mountains have prevented intercourse, how rivers have promoted trade and density of population, what natural resources have given rise to particular industries, how the climate has influenced the life and work of the people. Facts are needed and must be learnt; but a fact is remembered with greater ease if it is understood, and facts are of use only if we connect them with causes and results.

In giving facts to the class something more than a bare recital is needed. No subjects makes greater demand on the descriptive powers of the teacher. He should endeavour to carry the pupils in imagination to the country he is describing, to do this he should, as far as possible, supplement vivid description by pictures, photographs, picture postcards, and, if suitable arrangements can be made, lantern slides.

Sketch map by pupils.—The pupil's note-book should contain a series of sketch maps for each country, each map illustrating a particular feature. Thus one map should contain the mountain system, a second map the river system, a third the distribution of rainfall, and so on. Almost every topic discussed can be illustrated by a sketch map and benefits thereby. In order to draw these sketch maps it is not necessary for pupils to learn to draw the outline by heart, except perhaps in the case of India, whose outline is easily remembered. The teacher should supply blank outline maps (cyclostyled or printed), and these should be used to illustrate various topics. Many maps, each illustrating a single feature, are preferable to one elaborate map crowded with details.

Blackboard map by the teacher.—These should be built up as the lesson proceeds; each map should contain the elements essential to the lesson and no others. Coloured chalks are a valuable help; they make the various features stand out clearly from one another, and if the same colour be used consistently to represent the same feature, e.g., red for high land, blue for rivers, yellow for towns, etc., much time will be gained. Outline maps drawn on blackboard cloth are convenient as the basis for these maps; they may be procured from Messrs. G. Phillip & Sons, through Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co., Bombay.

Books and apparatus.—The teachers should consult the "Guide to Geographical Books and Appliances" published, for the Geographical Association by G. Phillip & Sons (Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co., Bombay), (6*s.*).

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN GEOGRAPHY.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

General Geography.—Measurement of distances; direction, North, South, East, West, North-East, North-West, South-East, South-West; drawing of North and South line in play-ground by means of shadow cast by vertical stick; meaning of scale; plan of class-room, plan of school and play-ground; explanation of the map of the district; the meaning of a map to be explained as far as possible by excursions in the neighbourhood.

CLASS IV.

General Geography.—Revision of the work of Class III.

India.—Further explanation of the meaning of a map, by reference to a comparison of the map of India with a relief model of India as regards the following points:—The Himalayas, the Deccan Plateau, the Eastern and Western Ghats, the coast strips and the towns, Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Delhi, Allahabad, Lucknow, Cawnpore.

Description of Northern India with reference to the nature of the country and the climate.

The following maps to be drawn by the pupils :—

(1) Map of India, showing the Himalayas, the Sulaiman Mountains, the Vindhyas, the Indus with the five rivers of the Punjab, the Ganges with its main tributaries, the position of the United Provinces.

(2) Map of the United Provinces, showing divisions and their head-quarters.

The World.—Shape of the Earth, its rotation, light and darkness, the poles and equator, land and water, the names and relative position on the globe of continents and oceans.

Where arrangements can be made oral lessons should be given describing typical scenery or life of man in various parts of the world. They should be illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, etc.

In preparing these lessons the teacher should consult the following books :—World Pictures, by J. B. Reynolds (Black), (3*s.* 6*d.*); Man in Many Lands, by Lyde (Black) (6*s.*); and the Peeps at Many Lands Series (Black), (3*s.* each).

Physical Geography.—Explanation of the following terms by reference to the globe and map :—Continent, ocean, gulf, bay, lake, strait, cape, peninsula, isthmus, mountain, island. Description of the sea.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Geography.

Class IV.—Anglo-Vernacular School Geography,* Book I, Part 1 (Urdu or Hindi), published by Longmans, Green & Co. (Urdu, 10 annas; Hindi, 8 annas).

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN VERNACULAR. (URDU OR HINDI).

PREPARATORY SECTION.

Class A—Reading.—To read correctly words and easy sentences from a primer.

Writing.—To copy characters and easy words from a primer. Special takhtis with letters and figures in indelible ink are recommended for use.

Class B—Reading.—To read sentences at sight from the text-book in one form of the vernacular and to know the meaning of words.

Writing.—To copy sentences from the text-book in Urdu or Nagri character. Special takhtis with letters and figures in indelible ink are recommended for use.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Reading.—To read accurately at sight from the text-book in one form of the vernacular, and to explain the meaning of words and sentences.

Writing.—To copy and to write sentences to dictation from the text-book. Special takhtis with letters and figures in indelible ink are recommended for use. Copy-books to be shown.

* The Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book I, Parts I to III (Urdu or Hindi), is also available in one volume (Urdu, Rs. 2-4; Hindi, Re. 1-4).

CLASS II.

Reading.—To read accurately at sight from the text-book in one form of the vernacular, and to explain the meaning of words, sentences and paragraphs; to turn verse into prose.

Writing.—To write sentences to dictation from the text-book in Urdu or Nagri character. Copy-books to be shown.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Reading.—To read accurately at sight from the text-book in one form of the vernacular, and to explain the meaning of words, sentences and paragraphs. To turn verse into prose order.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING DRAWING.

Method.—Teachers of drawing should bear in mind that it is far more important to train the eye and develop the suppleness of the hand than to produce mechanically accurate copies of drawings. They should therefore see that pencils of suitable length are used and kept properly pointed. They should forbid the shifting and turning of the paper in the process of drawing and insist on the adaptation of the hand to the lines required. They must accept responsibility for seeing that scholars do a satisfactory amount of work, and while on the one hand hasty and untidy work is to be checked, on the other hand anything of a laboriously minute and mechanical nature is to be avoided.

In free-hand drawing no mechanical aids should be allowed.

5. Maintenance of seasonal time chart, recording weather conditions in combination with agricultural and other activities as observed by pupils and teachers.

APPENDIX II.

TRAINING CLASS COURSE IN DRAWING.

Method.

THE examination test is drawing on the blackboard only, but to enable students to pass this test they should be trained in the principles of object-drawing by means of work on paper and subsequently apply these principles to instruction of a class from the black-board.

As it is a teacher's course the method to be adopted should be that of drawing on the black-board to a large scale, i.e., 3 feet in each direction, as being a convenient stretch for the arm, and the drawing being then within the compass of the eye as seen by the teacher and yet large enough to be seen by the pupils at a distance of 20 feet.

The drawings should be executed in as free a manner as possible, the arm being straight but flexible and the teacher standing not less than two feet from the black-board.

The principal aim of the drawing to be taught later is to furnish an illustrated class record of the study of the character, etc., of the things seen by the scholars in their object lessons. Thus it is necessary that the drawing should also be done in books so as to be available for future reference.

These drawings should be free in character and, when possible, should be of the same size as the original; but if this is not possible, the scale of the enlargement or reduction should be stated below the drawing.

The standard of excellence in the drawing should not be that which shows the most neatly-executed outline-drawing of the subject studied, but rather that which most clearly conveys or records the point or points brought out in the lesson given.

It will be advisable therefore for the teacher (as well as his pupils) to combine his drawing lesson with his object lesson, and, to ensure this, the object lessons and drawing lessons should, if possible, be consecutive periods.

The method to be adopted when teaching this subject in the vernacular schools would be that in the object lesson the teacher will draw attention to certain facts and impress them on the minds of his pupils by large sketches on the black-board. These should be carefully copied in their books, or other drawings should be made by the pupils themselves from the object under study.

This principle should also be adopted in the teacher's study, but it will be expected that his resulting drawings will show more searching observation and be executed so as to record best the character of the object under study and to impress most clearly upon the class the point illustrated.

The drawings on the black-board (if in outline only) should be drawn with white chalk, but if representation of solid things be attempted in a solid way, they should be drawn with coloured chalks in as nearly the true colours as possible.

Sometimes, where it is found difficult to make a true rendering on a black surface, a large sheet of brown or white paper should be used for chalk and charcoal work.

For work in books, an HB pencil will usually be found sufficient.

In drawing fruits, sectional drawings will be of great advantage.

In all possible cases drawings should be executed without the aid of guiding lines, and even when necessary very few guiding lines should be used.
